PLAN TO ENJOIN USE OF MONEY ON ROADS IS DROPPED

The leaders of the Orange County Taxpayers' League have concluded that it will not be worth while to further consider the talked-of plan to bring an injunction suit with the expectation of being able to stop the use of the $240,000 surplus in the good roads fund upon roads not in the original plans.

An attorney was asked to state the amount that he would take to fight the case through for the Taxpayers' League. The attorney's answer was that he would want $1500. That, along with the problematical outcome should proceedings be started, convinced those who were considering the injunction that no injunction action would be brought by the Taxpayers' League.

The League's contention has been that the roads as built are not of a permanent nature. Objection was raised to the thin surfacing, and declarations were made that the $240,000 should be used in putting an asphalt surface upon the roads originally planned, so far as the $240,000 would go.

That action in the courts could cause a great deal of delay in the work is conceded. It is highly probable that if action were started an injunction could be secured prohibiting the County Highway Commission from expending a dollar upon any of the new roads projected for improvement with the surplus until after the last foot of the first system is completed.

It is the purpose of the commission to proceed at once with the new work. While the exact surplus cannot actually exist until after the last dollar of expense on the old system is met, it would not be the part of wisdom to waste four or five months waiting for the last contract to be finished, when it is morally certain and beyond any reasonable doubt a fact that there will be a surplus, which can be estimated to within a few dollars.

Tomorrow is the regular meeting day of the Taxpayers' League. It was predicted today by one of the most active members of that organization that there is no probability of the league taking any action looking to an injunction proceeding.

YOUTHFUL TOUGH PACKS SHOTGUN, REVOLVER, IN IONE BREAK

STOCKTON, Cal., March 5.—Five of the eleven boys who participated in the break from the Preston School of Industry at Ione, have been captured. The other six are still at liberty.

Sylvia Taylor, the fifth, was captured and arrested near Clements today by State Officer Watts of Ione.

During the night Taylor, accompanied by Robert E. Nelson and G. N. Norton, broke into a house on the George Chase farm near Lancha Plana, Amador county, and stole a shotgun, a box of cartridges and a supply of provisions.

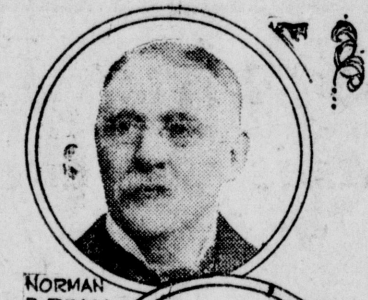

Taylor was carrying the shotgun, also a revolver, when taken.

500 MULES NEAR DEATH IN KANSAS CITY BLAZE

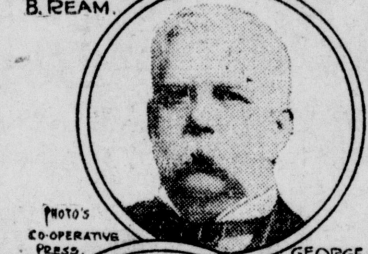

KANSAS CITY, March 5.—Investigation is progressing today in four fires last night in the barns of the local stock yards, sheltering five hundred mules intended for the British government.

HERE are four great American business men who have died within the past few months, and though each one carried an enormous load for most of the years of his life, he lived to a ripe old age, an age beyond the average.

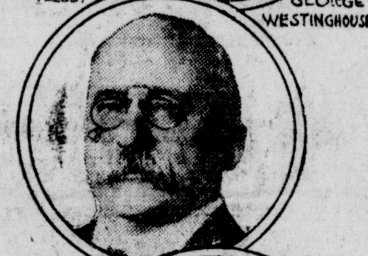

Norman B. Ream, financier, the last to die, was seventy-one years old when he passed away, in 1915. George Westinghouse died at sixty-seven and one-half years. Anthony N. Brady didn't die till he had passed his seventieth year. Frederick Weyerhaeuser was nearly eighty when death came.

TODAY'S ODDEST STORY

BAKER, Ore., March 5.—Frank Rogers, at LaGrande, Ore., owed Joe Paradise of this city a dollar. He took a silver dollar, pasted a stamp on one side and a slip of paper bearing Paradise's name and address on the other side and sent it parcel post. Paradise is saving the coin as a souvenir.

GIVE UP TRIP TO BIG FAIRS? PROTESTS POUR

WASHINGTON, March 5.—The White House is being deluged with protests against the suggestion that President Wilson abandon his trip to the expositions because of the international situation. The President will decide the matter definitely in a few days.

Vice President Marshall may be chosen to represent the President at the San Francisco Exposition March 22, it is learned today.

BANK CASHIER ARRESTED; AROUND $90,000 MISSING

Turks Will Give Up Capital

FIRST TO BUILD ROADS IN THE SUGAR BEET SECTIONS

Of the 29.36 miles of new road projected in the plans for the disposal of the $240,000 surplus in the good roads fund, the first to be constructed will be those lying in the damper sections of the county. Contracts for those roads will be let as soon as possible so that the building can be done during the early summer months and the roads finished by the time sugar beet hauling commences.

When it became certain that the new roads were to be built, the highway commission's office set immediately to work to hasten the preparations for the road building. The first work started was preparing plans and specifications for the 2.25-mile gap in the Anaheim-Stanton-Cypress road. When the Board of Supervisors meets on March 16 to receive bids for the Anaheim-Olive road, part of the original system, the Stanton gap will be ready for advertising for bids.

The next road to be ready for bids will be the nine-tenths of a mile between South Main street and Newport road. This road runs in front of the Santa Ana Co-operative Sugar Company and during the season carries heavy traffic. It will be finished before sugar beet hauling starts.

"Other roads that should be built during dry weather," said Chief Engineer S. H. Finley today, "are the spurs at Wintersburg and Smeltzer and the Greenville road."

There are a great many new fills and it is thought advisable to have as much rain on these fills as possible before putting on the pavement, so that the earth will settle.

Highway Commissioner Pixley stated today that the commission hopes to have the Santa Ana Canyon road finished before the next rainy season and that work will be commenced as soon as the present rainy season is over.

Commissioner Pixley said that before the end of the present year the Olive-El Modena road would probably be finished. This proposed road is known as the Santiago boulevard and connects Olive and El Modena by way of the foothills.

DYNAMITE! WARE! MEXICO CITY IS DANGEROUS! SAYS U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—Officials of the State Department admit this afternoon that the situation in Mexico City is full of dynamite.

It is announced by Secretary Bryan that General Alvaro Obregon, commanding the Carranzista troops there, had ordered all the shops opened and declared constitutional money legal tender, in spite of its doubtful value.

No attempt is made by the government to conceal the grave situation which resulted from the shortage of food.

Rioting is expected at any time. There are many Americans in Mexico City. Secretary Bryan appears much concerned, but declined to make any further comment.

England's Naval Strength Proves Astounding to Otto- mans; Bombardment Yet On

Sweeping Victories Claimed and Denied by Each Side in Fighting on Continent

LONDON, March 5.—Constantinople will not be bombarded. The old Turks have sent word to England that if the Anglo-French fleet batters its way through the Dardanelles they will flee into Asia, to save the historic city from destruction. This is vouchsafed for by a high official of the government, who requests that his name be not used.

LONDON, March 5.—The Russian Black Sea fleet of six battleships, two protected cruisers and a number of smaller vessels, is steaming along the east coast of Turkey, intending to strike at Constantinople through the Bosphorus, according to Rome dispatches just received.

The fleet has been sighted off Burghas, 125 miles from the Bosphorus and one hundred and forty miles from Constantinople.

The Admiralty refuses to confirm this report, but it is known the Russians have been searching for days for the Turkish fleet, which has disappeared from Niagara Roads.

Whether the Turkish fleet is steaming to meet the Russians or fleeing for safety is not known.

It is reported the Russians are endeavoring to reach Constantinople before the allies can break through the Dardanelles.

Rome advises that the French squadron has destroyed the principal Dardanelles forts near Bulair and on Gallipoli Peninsula.

Aviators are now maneuvering over the forts and signalling the range. The garrisons have lost heavily. The French are endeavoring to land parties and seize the railroad at Bulair.

The British continue to pound the forts of Kiled Bahr and Chanek. Admiral Carden, commanding, is confident the forts will crumble within forty-eight hours.

The admiralty today warned the public that the hardest part of the battle yet remains to be fought.

The old Turkish party is overwhelmed with the display of England's naval strength, according to a high government official. The battering of the outer forts of the Dardanelles has astounded the Turkish leaders.

They want to make a show of resistance by remaining in the forts, for the effect such action will have on the Turkish people, but have sent word that they want to preserve the Turkish mosques from devastation by the shells of Christians.

Rumors are current here that the Russians will be permitted by the allies to take possession of Para, a suburb of Constantinople, but the Dardanelles will be declared neutral. Dispatches from Liverpool predict that wheat will take an unprecedented drop as soon as the Strait has been forced.

French Occupy Town of Vauquois After Battle of Five Days

PARIS, March 5.—It is officially announced that the greater part of the town Vauquois has been occupied by the French after a five-day battle.

Germans Lose Five Submarines Since Outbreak of War, English Claim

LONDON, March 5.—The admiralty stated today that five German submarines besides the U-8 have been sunk since the beginning of the war. These include the U-15 and the U-18 and three others which have not been identified.

Captain Wyatt of the steamer Alston reported to the admiralty today that he believed his vessel rammed and sank a submarine in the English Channel.

THIS IS THE NEW LAND PERISCOPE COPIED FROM THAT OF SUBMARINES, BUT NEVER BEFORE USED IN LAND OPERA- TIONS IN AN ARMY. THE BRITISH HAVE ADOPTED IT FOR THEIR SOLDIERS. IT IS PARTICULARLY USEFUL IN CONNECTION WITH WORK IN THE TRENCHES, AND THIS ILLUSTRATION SHOWS A BRITISH SOLDIER SIGHTING FROM A TRENCH WHERE HE CANNOT BE SHOT BY THE ENEMY.

RAILROADS CLAIM TO BE FACING RECEIVERSHIPS

CHICAGO, March 5.—With blinding snowstorms and a fifty-mile gale blowing on Lake Michigan, Chicago today faces the most serious storm of the season.

Shipping along the lake is endangered by the high wind. The steamer Kansas was forced to seek safety in port and other steamers cancelled their sailings.

The snowfall has continued uninterruptedly since yesterday. Hundreds of extra men are working to keep traffic moving.

The poor are suffering greatly and charitable organizations are swamped with applications for help.

The blizzard continues throughout Nebraska, South Dakota and Iowa. Snow has drifted badly in the cuts and railroad traffic is seriously interfered with in many localities.

In the afternoon the wind increased in fury and the temperature dropped several degrees.

Forecasts predict the city is in for an icy siege.

Thirty-six hours of steady snow is reported from Omaha, and telegraph and telephone lines there are out of commission.

Texas, Louisiana and Southern Arkansas are deluged with rain and a general flood is reported along the Arkansas watershed.

Traffic throughout Kansas is demoralized.

Twenty inches of snow is reported from Manhattan, Kansas.

ORANGE WINS FROM ANAHEIM

Orange News: Orange High School "got back" at Anaheim High Wednesday afternoon on the local grounds when the baseball team avenged itself for the track team's defeat last week. The local nine goose-egged the visitors, at the same time piling up a nice bunch of runs for themselves. The score of 7 to 0 tells how easy it was.

The Orange team continues to act like a real ball team. Though there is still recognized weak spots, the team is steadily improving. It is not batting up to customary form, but is still early in the season and the new men should develop in this respect. The men are playing an aggressive game, as nine stolen bases will testify. To be sure, they had but little opposition Wednesday, but the one thing has been going on in every meadow.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.—Advertisement.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES MORRISON CHOSEN IN ORATORICAL TEST

The Orange County Peace Oratorical Contest was held Tuesday afternoon in Miss Wyant's room. There were three candidates in the contest, namely, Wm. Sebastian, Leo Keeney and Marvin Morrison. Marvin Morrison won the contest with his oration, "A Century of Peace," which was given before the school a couple of weeks ago. Santa Ana is fortunate to have him represent her in the Orange county contest which is to take place soon.

Rube Day
Tuesday afternoon at the Senior Class election somebody got up and said, "What's the matter with Rube day?" Everybody was for it in a minute and by a second motion it was decided to celebrate the next day, Wednesday. So Tuesday night after school Ernie Plavan called a special meeting, at which the details of the celebration were worked out.

Wednesday morning, bright and early, the Seniors of 1915 started out from Birch Park in full array. The costumes of the boys were ludicrous beyond description. Claire Burkett, "took the cake" for a funny make-up, but some of the girls said he did not have to put on much to act the part of a hay-seed. It was a very much surprised bunch of students that witnessed the arrival of the Seniors at the school. The occasion was so well managed that no one, outside of the Seniors themselves knew what was up. Before school a little trouble was encountered at the entrance of the main building and a short "rough house" was held. At noon the Senior boys and girls, or better, Rubes and Rubesses, ate their lunch together at the park, where they had a jolly good time. After lunch a serpentine was formed and the march started back to school. Then trouble started, for the three other classes, combined, had insolently challenged the mighty Seniors to combat by placing their colors on the flag-pole. The scrap that followed was certainly hot. Shirts were ripped, collars and ties went, and in two cases the whole upper portion of a youth's body was divested of garments. It was a "bottle royal," a "free-for-all," a case of "survival of the fittest." However, the Seniors were hopelessly outnumbered and after a half hour of terrific battling they retired with as good grace as they could muster. After school the Seniors enjoyed a free "movie" show at the Princess.

School Notes
A meeting of the Board of Control was held in room 26. It was called to order by the new president, Marvin Morrison. Basil Smith resigned as yell leader. The Freshman fee was fixed at fifty cents for Student Body dues and season ticket. The auditor was instructed not to issue any more season tickets unless paid for, and a committee was appointed to look after stand details. The bills of Fred Rafferty, Roberts-Oliver Lumber Co., J. R. Baker and Henry Maier were ordered paid.

The Boys' Club held a short meeting in the music room Thursday. Marvin Morrison resigned as president and Keeney was elected in his place. Charles McClain was elected vice-president. The program committee was instructed to get to work on future programs.

The Office Training Classes are getting experience this week in making applications for positions. The first trial was made on various members of the faculty, the members of which were "loaded for the prospectives."

Miss Wyant's class in debating is holding a debate every Friday. These debates are on live questions and tend to bring out some debating material for next year.

The A-2 Sophomores held a short meeting Thursday. The new president, Tom Willis, presided. The tie between Homer Holzgrate and Alverda West for treasurer was voted off, the former winning. The class decided to make the "Rough House" Friday night more even by excluding the B-3 Juniors.

Thursday night a meeting was held at the Intermediate School to form a band. Only about eight people were there and they were mostly town men. It is up to the students to get busy if they want to get a band to play at the games and meets.

D. W. McDANNALD'S ADVENTURES AT THE SAN FRANCISCO FAIR

San Francisco, March 1, 1915.
On one of the back leaves of memory's book I find a promise recorded, and since I have had time to catch my breath and get away from the whirl of the mirth-maddened throng, I am going to make that promise good, with interest. If it was not for the tearing down and building up, the California building would soon be in presentable shape. In the Sacramento Valley department they have a lot of nice little hen coops, ranged along one side, with little sample exhibits of each county's products set out for inspection. The commissioners came down the other day, a baker's dozen of them, and they took umbrage—I don't know what they had taken before coming—and I understand there is going to be a reconstruction along the entire bay frontage of their exhibit.

Mr. Pilcher, who is a pioneer in this line of work, is very much out of chord with the commissioners' plans, and there may be a vacancy to report. Well, this seems to be a year of troubles, and there is no telling whose neck will fall under the ax next. The swish of the paint brush, the squeak of the saw and the deep-throated voice of the carpenter who has just missed the manufactured nail and hit his own, drowns every noise save that of the lecturer, who is picturing in rhythmic tones the marvelous beauty and matchless grandeur of some little God-forgotten corner of this chosen land.

There is still work a-plenty for those who desire that kind of recreation before the stalls are all completed.

Looking at it from an unbiased point of view, the seven southern counties have the best exhibit in the building by a good, safe margin, and hundreds of these people are frank enough to say so. A lady came along today and said: "I am willing to tip my hat to you people for having the most beautiful thing I have seen," but I noticed she was bare-headed, and I was at a loss to know how to construe the admission.

The most attractive feature in our exhibit, excepting, I grant, the bit of female loveliness that adorns our information booth, and hands out literature to the unsuspecting and the unwary, is the display of dates from the Coachella Valley.

Walnuts Galore

Following, and a close competitor, comes the Orange county walnut exhibit, which I have the honor of collecting, and which I guard with jealous care. If I don't overrun Orange county with walnut-mad people before this fair closes, then there must be a refrigerator located somewhere between this place and the country line to cool their enthusiasm, or a shower bath to dampen their ardor.

Our building is located almost directly under a replica of an old Moorish fort, and when I hear the reverberating sound of the cannon's dreaded roar, I know the dogs of war have been unleashed, and that the little brown man across the sea has decided to try conclusions with our peace-loving Uncle.

By the way, these people of the Mikado's kingdom have a good display here. In fact they have three or four of them scattered through the educational halls.

The main feature last week was the 400-mile automobile race. Owing to the rain, and slippery track, it required seven hours of continuous grinding to end the contest, and then a bloody Britisher carried away the first prize. The race course runs by our building, and all we had to do was to step to the door and look out, but even then we could not see much for the machines went by like a bolt of zig-zag lightning. There is another 300 mile race scheduled for next Saturday, and we have all united in a prayer for fair weather.

I understand that ships are having trouble in getting into the harbor. It has rained so much the timbers have become swollen, and they are unable to open the Golden Gate.

His Own Cooking

I have been doing my own cooking lately, and it is unnecessary to tell you I have had to shorten my belt several notches.

A certain sense of taste and smell tempted me this morning to cross the street to the Pure Food building. "Poor" food instead of "pure," is all the kind I have made acquaintance of lately.

From this time hence, there is where I am going to spend my noon hour, for I made some rare discoveries today. The Sperry Milling Company has a real, honest to goodness, mill, grinding and bolting as snow-white flour as ever graced a dining room table, or filled the void in a human maw.

I sidled up to a table where a Hebrew maiden of doubtful age was rolling out great wisps of dough, rolling it into the thinness and regularity of my salary. This, I was told, is the kind of "wafer" those benighted sons without a country eat at the feast of the "Passover." I meekly said to the brown-eyed maiden, "pass over some of the uneaten staff of human existence to me, please." She broke off a piece the size of a saddle blanket and I ate it ravenously, without the fear of results, or the hope of redemption.

My next object of attack was the Swedish section, where a fair-haired miss from a far-away isle, was pinching mites of dough from a great big roll and torturing the pieces into images of living things. I watched her make a mouse, then a frog, but when I saw a gila monster formed into shape I moved on to where John Chinaman was doing the kitchen stunt for a family of aristocratic tendencies.

I first thought I'd linger around and sample John's biscuits when they came steaming hot from the oven, but when I saw him put his back into a pair of water, suck up a quart or more of the thin liquid, and then slowly and deliberately squirt it around over the flower while mixing and went merrily on, I had another thought, and I again moved on. I tackled Heinz's pickle dispensary, where they have 57 varieties, and more a-coming. The good things here are kept behind a glass, and all you can do is to look, and wish.

Real Biscuits

The next place of interest was a counter profusely lined with jellies, jams and preserves. Four or five handsome ladies presided over this dispensary, but before I could elbow my way up close enough to grab a piece of jelly-coated biscuit, the supply gave out, and one of the damsels sweetly smiled and said, "Come again tomorrow."

The sight of those good things carries me back in memory, and I recall how I used to steal into the cupboard, and joyously eat of the temptingly preserves, and with the same flights of memory I recall how mother used to wield the slipper whenever I was caught. In another booth they doled you out a cup of coffee. They called it a "cup," but it held only about a tea drop, and it was far from satisfying a man who drinks a quart of the thirst-defying beverage for breakfast.

Now, just a word in passing, of the man who designed and installed the Southern Counties exhibit, Mr. Charles L. Wilson. As you know, I have been with him to several land shows, and for the past four years almost continuously, and I say without hesitation that he is one of the most conscientious men I ever made the acquaintance of. His greatest fault—and in most men this would be a virtue—is his reticence. A few people, coming up from the South, before everything was complete and in place, have gone home with what they thought, a real grouch. If the same people saw the exhibit now, in its polished state, and made the comparisons they did on the former visit, they certainly would, if they were possessed of a sense of fairness, admit their first conclusions were wrong, and lastly arrived at. I have learned, in the years ago, that most any kind of a half-witted human can criticize and find fault, but it takes real gray matter to devise and build. It is wiser by far to not condemn at all, than to condemn unjustly.

D. W. McDANNALD.

JUDGE GARY GIVES BOYS SUCCESS RULES

PITTSBURG.—"Success rules" for American boys were given here by Judge Elbert H. Gary. Here they are: 1. Be honest, frank and sincere. 2. Be considerate. 3. Work to acquire a good education. 4. Be consistent in looking after physical and moral health. 5. Be honorably ambitious. 6. Be patriotic, but don't criticize other nationalities. 7. Practice the Golden Rule.

CINCINNATI, O.—That the government should control and regulate the kind of jobs that boys go into after they leave school, was the demand of speakers at the National Educational Association convention here.

SOCIAL SURVEY FOR SPRINGFIELD FINISHED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 5.—Within a few days the city will receive the final reports on the already famous "social survey." Twenty-one investigators came down upon the city during last spring, looked the place over, counted and measured, filled many note books, made numerous maps and diagrams, and went back to New York to determine the height and depth, the breadth and thickness of Springfield's virtues and vices. Nine big volumes of "reports" were written, numerous press "stories" prepared for the papers, and a big exhibition was put on in the State Armory.

At the present time Springfield knows how she appears to the outsider who comes looking for the inside of things, good and bad. And Springfield has reason to be proud for the Argus-eyed experts found much that was good and only an average assortment of what was bad.

The exhibition presented a beautiful picture of ivory white pillars, buff panels or big placards, colored cartoons; scores of photographs, and several silhouetted figures. Red "mercury" went up in a big thermometer as you saw "Willie Wilt" in an overheated school room. The "High School Press" ran a full-fledged print shop. A flashing baby race and red lights separated the registered births from the unregistered. A cartoon pictured the up-to-the-minute stork with one foot in a regulation counting machine.

EAT CABBAGE, FISH, SAUSAGE, NEW BREAD

'Pape's Diapiesin' Digests Food When Stomach Can't; Cures Indigestion

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick, sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, get this down: Pape's Diapiesin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

Most remedies give you relief sometimes—they are slow, but not sure. "Pape's Diapiesin" is quick, positive and puts your stomach in a healthy condition so the misery won't come back.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapiesin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, or any stomach disorder.—Advertisement.

counting Father Springfield's newest babies. An enormous revolving drum carried the jail record of the "ins" and "outs" of one man who was boarded free by the city for over two hundred days in one year. A picture of the shocking "bull-pen" for herding prisoners disappeared at intervals to make way for a clever scenic view of a prison farm. A squad of miniature coal miners steadily followed the ups and downs and a rugged hill representing the miners' irregular working periods.

SMILES DON'T SWERVE JURY, ASSERTS WOMAN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—"The suggestion that smiles may be used by a woman prosecutor to sway a jury is tomfoolery. The average federal jury is made up of hard-headed business men. They refuse to be swayed either by smiles or tears."

This was the declaration today of Mrs. Annette Abbot Adams, recently appointed assistant United States district attorney here, and the only woman ever employed as a prosecutor by the United States government. Mrs. Adams recently obtained her first conviction here when a jury in United States Judge Dooling's court found Louis Butler, a negro, guilty of robbery on the high seas. Mrs. Adams conducted the prosecution unassisted and Butler was sentenced to serve eight months in the Alameda county jail. He was accused of stealing $118 from Otis Scruggs on the United States transport Sheridan.

"I like my work immensely," Mrs. Adams continued. "If I had the choosing of my life work over again, I would again study law and try to arrive in the same position I now hold."

"A woman can be just as successful as a prosecutor as a man. The convictions I obtain never bother me. I have never yet remained awake at night thinking of the men who have been sent to jail as a result of my efforts. In my position as an assistant federal attorney, I am never called upon to prosecute unless it is almost a certainty that the victim is guilty of the charge. One United States commissioner and two juries pass upon his guilt before I obtain his conviction and before he is sent to jail. That should be sufficient to relieve any pangs of regret I might have if the person I am prosecuting is convicted. I would not prosecute any one I did not believe was guilty."

"I take the business of prosecuting as an impersonal thing. I do not feel that I am prosecuting the individual, but the crime. One thing I am opposed to is the drawing of a confession from a prisoner with the promise of a light sentence."

LET BERNARD SHAW BE SHOT, SAYS BURROUGHS

GRiffin, Ga.—"Germany is the most conceited nation on earth," said John Burroughs, the naturalist, who is wintering here. "The Allies must beat Germany. She must be taught to respect the rights of others and to cease her efforts at expansion."

"G. Bernard Shaw is the most conceited literary man in the world; it would do little harm if several of the Kaiser's bullets landed in Shaw's anatomy."

CAMPER REPORTS THAT HIS TEAM IS MISSING. VERY LIKELY STOLEN

After searching in vain all day for a team of black mares that disappeared from his camp near Olive Wednesday night, Alfred Poulson last night reported to Sheriff Jackson that he believed the team was stolen.

Poulson was driving from Imperial to his brother's place near Garden Grove. Wednesday night he camped at Olive, and tied his team to the wagon wheels. During the night the horses disappeared.

Sheriff Jackson has sent out a description of the mares. They are 4 and 5 years old, weight 1200 pounds each; have heavy manes and tails; one's mane lays to right, and other's to left; largest one has star in forehead; one has slit in left ear; not stod; may have shoe on hind foot but not sure.

OPERATORS BATTLE WITH FIRE SIXTY-TWO YEARS

SUMMIT HILL, Pa.—Mine operators of Panther Creek Valley are seeking to conquer the fire which has been burning sixty-two years in the mines here, which are owned by the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company. Owners of the burning mine thought they had the fire extinguished, but recently dense volumes of smoke were discovered pouring from the abandoned shafts in the vicinity of McCready's old mine. Flames can now plainly be seen during the night belching from the earth.

During the sixty-two years that the mines have been afire millions have been expended by the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company and millions of dollars' worth of coal has been reduced to ashes. Powerful pumps for many years were constantly kept working at an enormous cost pumping water into the valley in the hope of getting control of the fire. The work, however, proved to be without avail.

One million dollars was then expended to sink an immense concrete wall deep down into the earth in front of the underground conflagration with the hope of checking it. Quite recently all the caves and abandoned shafts were sealed or filled in to prevent any draughts reaching the fire, but this seemed only to increase the activity of the flames. The blaze, after raging for some time, died out of its own accord and mine owners thought it would be only a question of time when work could be resumed in shafts adjacent to the fire which had to be abandoned because of the intense heat and danger of explosions.

The fire breaking out fresh, however, will cause renewed efforts on the part of the operators to prevent the fire reaching the rich veins of anthracite coal throughout the valley and cause the destruction of millions of tons more of coal.

MRS. GOURAUD WILL BECOME EXPATRIATE

GOVERNMENTS NOT ALWAYS FOR PROFIT OF THE PEOPLE

Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts is about to propose for the consideration of congress a reduction of letter postage from the present rate of two cents for each half ounce to one cent.

In explanation of this plan, Senator Weeks says that the government is now making a large profit from first-class mail—how much, he cannot say, but he thinks it must be nearly one cent on every two paid for each stamp placed on a letter, and the profit on a drop letter or letters for delivery in the same city in which they are mailed he believes must be even greater. He more than suspects that the postoffice department is not being run as economically as a private business.

That last surmise of Senator Weeks is indicative of a very common complaint against all government functions.

It is one of the popular fallacies that governments of the people and by the people are also for the people, and that they are not intended to be conducted like a private business for the special profit of those who operate them.

It is a popular fallacy that a democratic government is owned by its democracy and that its officials are merely the hired men of the owner, whose duty it is to give the people a government at its actual lowest cost—as when the Democratic platform proposes that a tariff shall be "for revenue only," not as a Democratic administration disposes when it reduces the tariff to a free trade basis and is then compelled to levy a "war tax" to make up the inevitable deficit.

The postoffice department, like every other department, is chiefly expensive in its unnecessary employees and its extravagances of expenditure that would not be tolerated in a private business.

In a private business the profits go to the owners of the business; in government business the profits go to the managers hired by the owners—the people.

The cost of operating a government business is oftentimes wholly disregarded; and it is the almost invariable rule that there shall be no limitation on the number or cost of employees hired to operate the business.

When the Democratic administration found itself facing a deficit by reason of a tariff that could not furnish a revenue in accordance with the demand of the Democratic party platform, the first move to obviate the deficit was a "war tax," then, when it was found that this was not enough, the national appropriations for state improvements were slashed to half of the original bill; but there was never a thought of compelling closer economy in the administration of the government departments.

Now comes Senator Weeks with the charge that we are paying a hundred per cent more than we ought to pay for our letter postage.

This is probably true; and the reason is that, as Senator Weeks intimates, the postoffice department is not being conducted as economically as a similar business in private ownership—because the profit of the business is not being paid over to the owner of the postoffice business.

If the business of running a government was conducted as economically as that of a private business, the utopians who prate the theories of Socialism wouldn't have a leg to stand on; and all the people would get everything that is justly coming to them all the time.—San Diego Tribune.

ON MINE DISASTERS

West Virginia has had another coal mine disaster in which scores of miners were killed. There are indications that the mine was insufficiently safeguarded by the management. When the committees of organizations to which the dead miners belonged drafted resolutions of respect and condolence, let them not begin with the hackneyed preamble, "Whereas Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to call Brother Jones from this earth," etc. Let them put the plain truth in the preamble, to this effect: "Whereas, through the inexcusable negligence of greed Brother Jones was wantonly slain in the performance of his duty," etc.—Long Beach Press.

CIVILIZATION

The present war is regarded on all hands as a triumph of science. Huge guns are fired by engineers. The resources of modern physics and chemistry are at the service of killing men. The submarine, the aeroplane, the dirigible, wireless telegraphy, all are devoted to the destruction of human life. The nightmare of Europe recalls Voltaire's story of the shipwrecked refugees, who toiled across the barren plains not knowing whether they were on a desert island. Then on a bleak moor in the twilight they saw a human skeleton dangling from a gallows. "Thank God," they exclaimed, falling on their knees, "we have got back to civilization!"

IF—

A French engineer had a plan to cut a tunnel and canal from the Mediterranean sea into the Sahara desert and flood a great portion of that arid land which is below the level of the ocean. The project seemed entirely possible as there would be only about fifty miles of excavation, a short distance of that requiring tunnel construction. If the expenses of a few days of the great war now going on to destroy the best life and property of Europe could be utilized for such a purpose there might be a country reclaimed large enough to support a population equal to the half of Europe.

LOYAL TEXAS WOMEN

Women formerly living in Texas but now residing in California had the pluck, patriotism and persistency to evolve and carry through plans for the construction of a creditable Lone Star state building at the San Francisco exposition. Thus they evinced loyalty to their native and their adopted home, which is a mighty fine brand of loyalty.—Exchange.

POLITICAL STATEMENT

W. F. HEATHMAN
The first to announce his candidacy for city attorney was City Attorney W. F. Heathman, whose service as city attorney is longer than the service of any other city attorney in Southern California. He has lived municipal law these many years, and municipal law is a branch separate from other legal practice. For that reason, the city attorney's friends believe that he is exceptionally well qualified for the position he holds. For him it is declared that his advice when followed keeps the city out of law suits, that his opinions are given fearlessly and without favor. While he has been city attorney no judgment for damages against the city has ever been given. City Attorney Heathman is known as a man of integrity.

ORIGIN OF ALCHEMY
Alchemy was originally based upon the idea that material substances were base and that by a series of tortures and eliminations the good or noble part could be separated from the base and that finally the purest of all substances, gold, would be the consummation.—Exchange.

Maybe you have a fondness for shirts, for scarves, or some other one interest in clothes that amounts to a hobby. If so, you'll find that we have specialized in that particular line.

Young men who think "style's the thing" in clothes, regard this as a specialty station for smart, snappy garments.

Men of serious years with conservative tastes consider this essentially a store specializing in dignified styles.

We have a hobby ourselves—it's to carry the best and widest selection of good things to wear that can be found.

The fact that we sell Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes is a pretty good indication of their quality standard.

Foundation Stones for Agricultural Success

In these brief summaries different experts of the College of Agriculture of the University of California have set forth the basic principles of their various specialties.]

23.—VINIFERA GRAPES IN CALIFORNIA
[By Frederick T. Bioletti, Professor of Viticulture and Enology in the University of California]

The growing and dormant seasons are distinct. Rain falls principally in the dormant season and dry air should prevail during summer for success in growing grapes. The minimum sum of heat above 48 deg. F. during the growing season should be 2050 to 2750 deg., according to variety. Severe summer storms limit production. A rainfall of 16 to 25 inches or equivalent irrigation are necessary for full crops. Flooding in the dormant season should be deep. Deep tillage improves the soil and conserves moisture. Cultivation in the growing season should be no deeper than is necessary to conserve moisture. Most of the irrigating water should be applied near the end of the dormant season. Fertilizers which supply soil deficiencies will increase crops. Maintenance of the humus by cover crops or other means is a necessary complement of clean summer cultivation. Careful choice of cutting is necessary to utilize the qualities of the variety. Proper care of young vines is necessary for early bearing, longevity, maximum crops, and ease of cultivation. The proper use of stakes is necessary for the production of vines of good form, the improper use is a needless expense. The character and time of pruning determine how much is realized of the possibilities due to other factors. Oldium may spoil the crop in any region but can be controlled by proper sulphuring. Resistant vines are necessary in cooler regions infested by phylloxera, but in the warmer regions they may be dispensed with, except in the immediate neighborhood of an infested vineyard. Control of diseases is much facilitated by proper form and general vigor of the vine.

Shall the Farmer's Home Be in the Town or at the Orchard Farm?

BY LEVI CHUBBUCK
Bureau of Farm Management, U. S. Department of Agriculture
Pacific coast agriculture differs quite markedly in methods from that of the Middle West and Atlantic coast. As an instance, the farmers in the Atlantic states and the Mississippi valley, as a very general rule, live on and operate their farms. If the farmer is not the owner and operator he is the renter and operator, and his home is on the farm.

On the stock ranches of the intermountain states, the wheat ranches of Washington and Oregon, and the fruit and alfalfa farms of California, in a considerable proportion of instances, the owner and operator does not live on the place, but in town—possibly in another state. This is particularly the case in the citrus industry of California, so much so that "absentee ownership" of citrus groves seems to be the rule rather than the exception.

It seems to me that this must be a serious handicap to the citrus industry, and that its future prosperity is dependent in no small measure on the location of homes at the groves in which the owners and their families will live.

On the great cattle ranches in the sparsely settled districts of the range country, and on the 500 and 1000-acre wheat ranches, homes would be so widely separated as to make home life for the women and children quite undesirable, but with the 5, 10 and 20-acre units which prevail in the citrus belt of California, and present-day means of communication and transportation, it would seem that the social needs of the citrus grove homes would be amply met.

Unquestionably, if the one whose income is dependent on the net returns from the grove made his home there, to do the work called for in the manner and at the time required, it would make for increased efficiency.

This is the phase of farming that especially interests the office of farm management of the United States Department of Agriculture. Our work is to investigate methods of farm management for the purpose of discovering ways and means of increasing the efficiency of the system of farming in vogue in a community, and on individual farms, to the end of reducing cost of production and increasing net returns to the operator. If it appears that the farmer's cost of production is nearly equal to, possibly greater than, his returns, leaving little or nothing for his labor, we ask why it is so, and try to determine if the cause is wrong management on his part, and in what particulars.

In my investigation of the citrus industry, it has seemed to me that groves owned by people who live in town, near or remote, possibly in distant states, and have their groves cared for by hired labor, by contract or by the day or month, do not give best results in low production cost and large yields.

The old English proverb, "The ox fattens best under the eye of the master," will apply to citrus trees or any other farm crop. There may or may not be an intelligent sympathy between the tree, plant or animal and one who is interested in having them do well, but it is a fact that the personal attention of the master gets better results than does the indifferent care of a wage-earner.

In conversation recently with a citrus grower, he told me of a neighbor of his who had uniformly grown good crops of oranges. His methods of cultivation, irrigation, fertilization, pruning, etc., were practically the same as those of his neighbors. My friend said to him, "How is it that you are so much more successful with your grove than are your neighbors?" His reply was that all he did that was different from what his neighbors did was to potter around among his trees and give them individual attention as they seemed to need.

But there is another important economic result coming from the owner and his family making their home at the grove, and that is the considerable portion of the living expenses of the family that will come from the premises without the payment of cash, but which, if living in town must be paid for in cash at town prices and from the farm revenues.

United States Department of Agriculture Farmers' Bulletin No. 625, "What the Farm Contributes Directly to the Farmer's Living," discusses this matter with reference to the portion of the country east of the Rocky mountains.

Studies were made in ten states, three cotton growing, two corn belt, two general farming and three typical dairy sections, to determine what portion of the food, fuel and shelter needs of the family was met by the farmstead without cash outlay, and how much of these had to be bought. It was found that the average annual value of the food, fuel, oil and shelter per family was $595.08, of which $412.17 was furnished by the farm and $173.91 purchased.

The bulletin concludes with the following observations:

"The result of these studies shows that the farmer's cost of living in actual cash expenditures is very materially reduced by what the farm furnishes in food products, fuel and house rent; in fact, the income from this source adds as much to the real wealth of many farmers as does the net income from the sale of farm products.

"If it were not for those products contributed by the farm without any actual cash expenditure, a great many farmers would not have a comfortable living. Extensive investigations relative to the profits in farming indicate that the average labor income of the farmer probably differs little from ordinary farm wages, but in addition to this, he has the products contributed by the farm, as discussed in this bulletin."

A WORLD PACIFICATOR

[Contributed by Walter DeVoe]

Our country stands for freedom. It is a symbol of freedom and good will to all beings. The ancients taught that behind all forms and appearances in the physical world there stood a spiritual counterpart or divine idea. It is an inspiring thought that our country is the symbol of freedom—a great and mighty idea in the Divine Mind—and that as the representation of a divine idea, it will be led forward in its progress in the future as it has been in the past to a more and more perfect expression of that divine idea. Let us hold fast to our faith in our country's welfare, and believe that these United States will always stand for the highest idea of peace and good-will, even though we are obliged to fight for the principles we represent. Let us believe and look forward with expectancy to a mighty work for this country as a pacificator of the world's troubles.

Faith is a mighty energy, and when a nation believes itself as a whole to represent peace and good-will, there is no limit to be placed upon its powers of accomplishment. We see nations which have placed their faith in the destructive power of war, suffering because of their faith, and it behooves us to believe, as a people that are being led by divine wisdom to represent and express in greater and still greater degrees the omnipotence of peace and good-will, and to prove to the world that "where the spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty."

Let us all be united in the faith that the Angel of the Almighty—the Spirit of Freedom—is leading us by night as well as by day, through dark and troublous and depressing times, politically and financially, as well as through times of prosperity and peace, and that we as United States will help to bring to pass that era of universal brotherhood and good-will wherein the United States of the World will work in co-operation for the welfare of all humanity.

SPRINGS OF CALIFORNIA

Twelve years ago an investigation of the underground water of California was begun by the United States Geological Survey, and it has been carried on generally with financial co-operation on the part of the state. Later it became apparent that a study of the springs was desirable, particularly of those which yield mineral waters and which are utilized to a greater or less extent by citizens of the state and by tourists as recreation and health resorts.

This work was begun in the summer of 1908, when Gerald A. Waring was assigned to the task of collecting and assembling the necessary data. His report has just been published by the United States Geological Survey as Water-Supply Paper 338.

The immensity of the area of the state has made the collection of the field data required a task of considerable magnitude. In the original plan it was established that two years of field studies would prove sufficient. In midsummer, 1910, however, Mr. Waring was called by the Brazilian government to take charge of general water-supply investigations in the northeastern arid portion of Brazil, and on that account the task of finishing the report on the California springs was left to others.

California, with an area of 158,000 square miles, is the second largest state in the Union. It exhibits wide geographic diversity, for it includes the lowest area in the United States—Death Valley, 276 feet below sea level—and the highest—Mount Whitney, 14,501 feet above the sea. Similarly there is a great diversity in scenic effects, climate, and vegetation. Records obtained at meteorologic stations in the Salton Sink indicate a maximum temperature of 130 degrees in the shade, the highest record within the continental United States, while it is probable that minimum temperatures on the higher peaks, like Mount Whitney and Mount Shasta, approach the minimum within our boundaries. A total difference of nearly 200 degrees. Records of rainfall in the most arid sections of the southern deserts of the state represent the extreme of aridity in the United States, showing an annual average of less than 3 inches and periods of 12 months or more with only traces of rain, whereas the precipitation in Northwestern California is very heavy, an annual average of close to 100 inches being recorded at a few stations in Mendocino and Del Norte counties.

In the report it was found impracticable to discuss the springs of California with any regard to order of importance, for this depends on the extent to which they are or may be important. Some of the springs, when viewed from the geologist or the chemist were in 1908-1910 unusual, while those at several large resorts are of relatively minor scientific interest. It is believed, however, that the report, setting forth the results of impartial observations upon one of the most important resources of the state, will prove of value to its citizens as well

N. M. U. CLUB

Birthday of Favorite Member Is Celebrated at Meeting Last Evening

Last evening's meeting of the N. M. U. Club was a gala event, for it celebrated the birthday of a favorite member, Miss Adeline Hill, who was hostess.

Lovely bouquets of mustard blossoms, daffodils and ferns were used in the decorative scheme of yellow, and while some of the club members were briefly engaged with their fancy work, while discussing the "servant girl problem," a trio of musicians gave a medley of patriotic airs, Miss Whipple playing the ukulele, Miss Wallace the guitar, Miss Frances Potts the mandolin, with Jack Palmer as accompanist, and the girls also enjoyed reading a letter from Miss Ruth Larson, who formerly belonged to this club. Little Tommy Hill joined the sewing circle, intent on finishing a cushion for his "very own" use and Miss Mary Shrewsbury and Miss Bessie Hill were also welcome additions to the merry company.

Late in the evening the guests were invited to the dining room, prettily decorated with yellow tinted flowers and here delicious chicken sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake were ably served by a committee of three, Misses Bessie Hill, Mary Shrewsbury and John Fleming. A beautiful white frosted birthday cake, gleaming with tiny candles set in rose-bud holders, was the center of attraction and the popular honoree cut the cake, showered by good wishes given by all.

Those who joined in the merry celebration were Misses Mary Whipple, Lurline Dickey, Marguerite Wallace, Joy Baker, Alice Wasser, Josephine McCrory, Hazel Stocklager, Mary Shrewsbury, Frances and Gertrude Potts, Zoe Vanderlip, Bessie Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Palmer and John Fleming.

The next meeting will be held with Miss Frances Potts.

Successful All-Day Meeting

The Ladies' Aid Society of the First Congregational Church had a good attendance at their all-day meeting Wednesday.

At noon-time a bountiful dinner was served to the men of the church, violets and mustard flowers being combined in the pretty table decorations. Mrs. John Cochran, M. T. O'Brien, A. E. Chapman, F. L. Norton, Nat Brels and J. P. Williams, members of the dinner committee, deserve high praise for their share in this successful part of the day's program.

During the afternoon the "get acquainted" purpose of these monthly meetings was fully accomplished over the sewing of carpet rags and making aprons.

Interesting Talks Given

Sedgwick Relief Corps met in regular session with all officers present but two, there being a very large attendance.

Mr. Scammon and all sick members were reported as much better. Sixty-nine sick calls were reported.

The usual monthly tea will be held in the G. A. R. hall March 12, with Mrs. Ella Wilson as chairman. Very interesting talks were contributed by Mrs. John Adams of Nevada, Iowa, and Mrs. Overstreet of Cour DeLem, Idaho, who were welcome visitors.

Mrs. W. H. Smart had charge of the program and had a treat in store for the society by having Miss Allen, city missionary of Los Angeles, present to speak to the society on the subject of "The Child at Play and at Work." Miss Allen gave a most interesting talk and was able to give interesting facts connected with her work in Los Angeles. Mrs. Smart read a letter from missionaries at Warm Springs, Ore., and Miss Rosaline Kellogg read a splendid paper on "The Red Man and His White Neighbor."

At the close of the program the committee, Mrs. W. M. Smart, Mrs. Ellis Smith, and Mrs. Stevens, served refreshments of brown and white bread sandwiches and coffee. The committee was assisted in serving by Miss Fannie Smart and Mrs. Joe Fletcher.

Married in Kansas

The following item from the Colby Tribune at Colby, Kansas, will be of interest to the many friends of Frank H. Baker, formerly of this city:

"Miss Katie Roesch, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roesch, of Chardon, over in southwest Rawlins county, was united in marriage on Monday afternoon, February 22, 1915, to Mr. Frank H. Baker, of Santa Ana, California. The probate judge, J. W. Steele, in the absence of Rev. Beauchamp, choice of the young lady for the occasion, performed the ceremony. Mr. Baker has business and interesting holdings in California, but he will take his bride to Eastern Kansas, where they will make their future home. Mr. Baker comes recommended from his neighborhood, but is a stranger in this part."

"Miss Katie Roesch is a product of Rawlins county, born and raised on the farm where her parents have resided for more than a quarter of a century, and a popular young lady in the neighborhood with hosts of warm friends who wish them well."

Honors Mother's Birthday

Mrs. George L. Wright gave a delightfully informal Kensington, yesterday in honor of the birthday of her mother, Mrs. H. Y. Ernest, the company being composed of her old time neighbors and friends from Iowa.

Fancy work and pleasant conversation made the hours pass swiftly and a dainty afternoon tea, served at the dining table, prettily centered with scarlet geraniums, closed the afternoon.

Among the friends of Mrs. Ernest who joined in wishing her many successive happy birthdays, were Mrs. L. P. Hendrickson, Mrs. Nora Case, Mrs. Emory Wright, Mrs. A. Stotts, Mrs. N. Jordan, Mrs. M. A. Flood, Mrs. E. P. Brannon and Miss Esther Hendrickson.

Shower for Club Member

Miss Jane Stanley proved to be a charming hostess Wednesday when she entertained the members of the Chat 'n' Sew Club, at her pretty home on Second street.

As an attractive feature of the pleasant afternoon, spent with needlework and conversation, was a shower of lovely personal gifts which complimented Miss Anna Walker, who is soon to become the bride of Clyde Flower. During the social hours, the girls hemmed a dozen tea towels for the popular bride-to-be.

Dainty refreshments of Welsh rarebit, wafers and hot chocolate were served. Among those who enjoyed the afternoon together were Misses Anna Walker, Ednah Meyer, Alice Huntington, Lucy Stevens, Irene Edwards, Grace White, Fern Smith, Helene McNeil, Jane Stanley, Esther Fluor, Helen Stanley, Mildred Britton.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent by those present, conversation and music being enjoyed by the grown-ups, while the hours passed swiftly for the little folks, who were amused by many unique games, supplied by the thoughtful hostess.

INFORMAL RECEPTION

Old-Time Friends of Mrs. Snow Welcome Her at Pretty Social Affair

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Sherman Stevens entertained at her home in Tustin with a prettily informal reception in honor of her house guest, Mrs. Elva Snow, of Oxnard.

A profusion of peach blossoms lent a suggestion of spring to the living rooms of the Stevens home, and in the dining room maidenhair ferns and delicately-tinted camellias were employed.

The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her sisters, Mrs. Grave Frees and Mrs. W. B. Snow, as well as the honoree. Half a hundred guests were present to renew acquaintance with the complimented guest, nearly all of whom had known her well during her long residence in Tustin and Santa Ana.

Mrs. James S. Rice added much to the merriment of the affair by reading a poem composed for the occasion, entitled, "To the Original Belles," of which society Mrs. Snow was a member.

Needlework and social chat made the afternoon pass happily and at its close dainty refreshments were served.

Boys Hold Enthusiastic Meeting

The Boys' Brotherhood of the Congregational Church were the guests of the pastor of the church, Rev. Perry Frederick Schrock, at a dinner held in the dining room of the church last evening at 6:15, twenty members being present.

The president of the Brotherhood, Frank Hall, presided at the after-dinner exercises and acted as toastmaster.

The dinner was in charge of Mrs. F. L. Norton, and she was assisted by Mrs. D. G. Cole, Mrs. A. E. Chapman and Mrs. L. L. Robinson.

Talks were made by Rev. Schrock, Dana G. Schlager, D. G. Cole and T. B. Kelly, encouraging the boys to form a club closely following the plan of the well-known organization, the Boy Scouts, if not actually a branch of that sterling society for boys.

For some time the club has been losing membership, as some of the older boys withdrew, in order to join the Men's Brotherhood, of the same church, until it became necessary for the men of the church to create a new interest for the boys, an interest which would arouse them once more to the importance of this branch of the work among the young people.

Entertained School Friends

Miss Coral Van Cleav entertained a few of her school friends last evening at her home, 317 Halesworth street.

The young people spent the hours informally. Miss Emily West gave instrumental music and the little hostess sang several sweet vocal solos.

During the social hours, Mrs. Van Cleav called the young people into the dining room, where she served an appetizing spread at the table, prettily decorated with red geraniums and made especially attractive with her lovely hand-crocheted luncheon set.

Misses Helea Haskins, Cammie Mitchell, Emily West and Messrs. Harold Holzgrafe, Lloyd Fuller, John Cannon and Victor Meyer were the guests at this informal gathering.

Washington P.T. Association

The Washington school Parent-Teacher Association held its regular monthly meeting in the sixth grade room Wednesday at 3:30 o'clock. The president being absent, Miss Pearl Plumb presided and a very interesting meeting ensued.

It was decided to change the date of meetings to the fourth Thursday of the month and it was unanimously voted to have a night meeting the fourth Friday of March, to which the fathers will be especially invited.

The mothers were delightfully entertained with three pleasing music numbers given by the Second grade under the direction of their teacher, Miss Kopplin. Venus Remison and Emma Hardy also gave a piano and violin solo which was much appreciated.

After the meeting adjourned dainty refreshments were served by the teachers, and a social hour followed.

Letter From the Seat of War

[Staff Correspondence of the United Press]

[United Press Staff Correspondent]

WITH THE BELGIAN ARMY IN FLANDERS, Feb. 13. (By mail to New York, March 4).—The Belgian army surgeons who sat opposite in the compartment of the train which carried us as far as Calais, on the way to Dunkirk, had been prisoners of war in Germany since October. Now they were on their way to Calais, where they had been ordered to report after their exchange had been effected.

Of the two officers, one ranked as a captain, the two golden and one silver stars on his collar testified. Two golden stars on the collar of the other's overcoat showed him to be a lieutenant. Leaving out side conversation, the captain's story, as brought out by questions put to him directly, was this:

"I was taken prisoner near Antwerp. For a few days I was detained in Doheln, in Saxony, together with a dozen other officers, some French, some English and some Belgian. We slept in two small rooms in a barracks, rooms which in times of peace serve as common soldiers' quarters. Our bedding was sacks filled with hay. I cannot say, however, that while at Doheln we were badly treated, considering the circumstances. This is war, and prisoners must not expect too much.

"Soon, however, we were transferred to Ebersdorf. We found a number of officers were already prisoners there, along with 4000 French, Russians, Belgians and English—if one English prisoner in all this number may be allowed to represent England. Of the Belgians some 200 were civilians. Why they were put there no one seemed to know. It was a very unhappy lot.

"The officers slept, as at Doheln, in small rooms of a barracks. Several had to occupy the same room. The ordinary soldiers and other prisoners slept mostly in stables, in straw, which had not been changed since the beginning of the war. It was alive with vermin and reduced to powder by constant tramping. Each of us was allowed a single blanket and we were often cold. Of course none of us had more than a change of clothes, the majority not even that; yet I do not know of a single case where anybody was provided with clothes by the German authorities. Most of us went without underwear and shirts while we washed and dried what we had.

"Theoretically both the barracks and stables were heated. A heating plant had been installed, but the actual heating had been let by contract to a civilian and he economized on coal shamelessly."

"Was there much sickness?" I asked him.

"A great deal," the captain answered. "There was little or no typhoid, for the sanitary precautions against such epidemics as this were perfect. There were many victims of pneumonia and erysipelas, scores of soldiers contracting erysipelas by lying in the filthy hay."

"Officers were given special treatment. They were allowed to eat at the canteens if they had the money, thus sparing themselves the very bad, though plentiful, food furnished the others. These were given coffee in the morning, soup with vegetables in it at noon, and soup and cheese, beer or something like that at night."

Freckles

FEBRUARY AND MARCH BRING OUT UNSIGHTLY SPOTS; HOW TO REMOVE EASILY

The woman with tender skin dreads February and March because they are likely to cover her face with ugly freckles. No matter how thick her veil, the sun and winds have a strong tendency to make her freckle.

Fortunately for her peace of mind, the recent discovery of a new prescription, othine—double strength, makes it possible for even those most susceptible to freckles to keep their skin clear and white. No matter how stubborn a case of freckles you have, the double strength othine should remove them.

Get an ounce from your druggist and banish the freckles. "Money" back if it fails.—Advertisement.

Meat was allowed three times a week. Officers were mixed as far as possible. For instance, a Russian, Belgian and Frenchman would share the same room, none speaking the language of the other. We were searched for various causes now and then.

"Do the Germans make any distinction between the various allies?" "Assuredly they do. They despise the English worse than they do the Turks. They say the Belgians are treacherous and free shooters; the Russians are cruel; the Turks are the same but know no better; the French are all right, but are the tools of another nation, while the English are a dastardly, despicable race, deserving of no consideration. They delight in making an English colonel salute a German corporal of the guard, though for that matter all the officer prisoners were required to salute non-commissioned German officers."

"What if they refuse?" "They would be punished by being put in cells with common German soldiers serving time for various misdemeanors. You can imagine what would happen. The poor officer would be made to suffer every conceivable humiliation."

"For violation of the rules, the Germans have a variety of punishments. For instance, I have myself seen a prisoner with hands tied behind his back, tied to a post and kept there from one to three hours. Occasionally the Germans drive three stakes in the ground about four feet apart and put the prisoner in this triangle. They then wind barbed wire around the stakes. If the prisoner barely moves he tears his flesh. He can't lie down, so he must stand motionless for hours. It is terrible torture. I heard that two Turks were kept tied to stakes until they died. But I didn't see this and I am inclined to disbelieve it."

AT THE COURT HOUSE WOULD ANNUL HER MARRIAGE TO BIGAMIST

Plaintiff Evidently Has Consent of the Defendant to Put the Matter Through

Elizabeth Mann is not going to remain on the records as the wife of a bigamist. Today she brought an action against Charles Erwin Rose to annul her marriage to him on July 23, 1913.

The complaint, filed by a Los Angeles attorney, states that when the wedding occurred Rose was already a married man. There was filed with the complaint today a certified copy of a record of Los Angeles county showing that on March 12, 1902, Rose, who was aged 22 at that time, was married to Leona E. Kenney, then 21.

That Rose consents to the annulment action was indicated by the fact that an answer was filed immediately after the complaint. A general denial, and the case can be brought to an early trial. There is little likelihood that there will be any further appearance by the defendant.

For Administration

Public Administrator Winbigler has asked for letters to the estate of Michael Reddy, who left $850.00 and one heir, a brother, living in Utah. W. W. Davis is attorney for the petitioner.

Over to Monday

This morning the time for passing sentence upon George Williams of Newhope, convicted to stealing a watch from T. Honda, a Jap, was continued to 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon. The reason for postponement was that Attorney W. W. Davis asked for more time in which to prepare a motion for a new trial.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

TESTIMONY ALL IN; TO ARGUE MARCH 20

Yesterday afternoon District Attorney West finished his evidence in the preliminary examination of T. A. Wells of Huntington Beach on a charge of subornation of perjury. Attorney Earl Rogers for Wells immediately moved that the case be dismissed. District Attorney West opposed the motion, and it was found that it was best to set a time for hearing of the arguments. Accordingly, Justice Cox fixed March 20 as the time. Yesterday afternoon the district attorney had three witnesses on the stand, R. E. Linden, Walter Crane and Walter De Hetre. Crane said that he heard part of a conversation between Wells and C. H. Mansur, whose testimony in a liquor trial Wells is alleged to have influenced.

OLD NEWPORT NEWS BUDGET

OLD NEWPORT, March 5.—The production of "A Detective in Petticoats" was given in a very creditable manner by those in the cast. Miss Laederich in the role of the detective deserving special mention. Mrs. Hunton, Mrs. Griset, Mrs. Lavender and Mrs. Youngling handled their roles in a very pleasing manner, bringing out the laughs in the comedy. The selections given by the orchestra from Santa Ana were highly appreciated and the solo by J. D. Hunton was followed by deafening applause. The only regret of the audience was that the program was not longer.

Mrs. W. J. Harlin visited friends for several days returning to her home in Redlands Wednesday.

James Morgan visited at the home of R. W. McClain for several days last week.

J. D. Hunton and daughter Jewel motored to San Bernardino and Redlands Wednesday.

Mrs. E. A. Philbrook spent several days in Los Angeles visiting friends.

Mrs. Rugby Ross and Mrs. Ralph Rich of Los Angeles spent Thursday at the home of their brother, R. L. Tedford.

Fannie Ould accompanied by several friends of Los Angeles spent Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Ould.

The Embroidery Club met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Griset Wednesday afternoon. After merry chat over their needles Mrs. Griset served delicious refreshments. Those present were Mesdames Lavender, Farnsworth, Cole, Clatworthy, Ellis, Hunton, Planchon and Fannie Tedford, the Misses Berta and Ruth Armstrong, Ida and Anne Segerstrom.

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Tedford were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wakeham, Sunday.

The residents south of the store are jubilant over the fact that they are to get a mile and a half of good road.

The piece of road to be paved is very bad in wet weather and a good road will certainly be appreciated by those who have to use it.

FACTS ABOUT CALIFORNIA

(From Los Angeles Financial News.)

The Olive Heights citrus fruit association of Orange county is building a new packing plant in Santa Ana which from a standpoint of light and ventilation, it is said, will have no rival in Southern California.

What is claimed to be one of the largest yields of lemons ever produced by a single lemon tree in one season, was made this year by a tree standing in the yard of T. F. Frye of Sutter City. The owner picked 2800 lemons off the tree. The 2800 or 233 and one-third dozens, were sold by Frye at 15 cents per dozen. The tree has a spread of about twenty-five feet and stands about thirty feet high.

An increase of $24,000 in the amount paid out for cream during 1914 over the year previous is noted in the annual report of the Visalia Co-Operative Creamery. The report shows that a total of 3,115,550 pounds of cream was delivered to the concern in Visalia, which produced 952,010 pounds of butter fat and from which, in turn, 1,175,335 pounds of butter were churned. This butter sold for about $320,500. Of this amount the dairymen of the immediate Visalia section received $296,910, the average price for cream being 34 cents per pound.

The irrigation system being constructed in Shasta valley, Siskiyou county, for the watering of 20,000 acres of land, is being rapidly completed. The engineers in charge of the work are confident that the system will be supplying water to a great portion of the land the coming spring. It has been found that a comparatively slight additional expense will extend the present system so as to include 12,000 acres adjacent. The completion of this work will add 32,000 acres of irrigated land to the county's total.

March 20, Orange Day, has been declared a holiday by Governor Johnson. Los Angeles will sell one million oranges on that day. The idea of Orange Day is, that for just one day out of the year the people of the state do nothing but think, eat and dream oranges. Every family buys a dozen or more oranges for their own use. They drink orangeade, give oranges to their friends, and send boxes of one dozen choice oranges to their friends in the east.

"There is practically no branch of the fruit industry of California," says the Department of Agriculture, "that has reached a more substantial basis than the growing of French prunes. The crop is easily raised, and has very few, if any, pests to contend with. The valley lands and portions of the hills bordering each side of the Sacramento valley are sure crop producers, and the income is always sure to show a handsome and substantial profit."

According to figures given out at Porterville Tulare county now leads California in acreage of citrus fruits. The total area planted to citrus fruits of all kinds is now 42,000 acres, about 2000 acres more than San Bernardino county, which formerly held the record. It is estimated that when all orchards now out in Tulare county are at their maximum, the output of oranges from that county alone will be more than 20,000 cars.

Creameries in Stanislaus county are prospering. During the month of January the West Side Dairyman's Association shipped 172,650 pounds of cream, the Newman Creamery 45,000 pounds of butter fat, the Central Creamery 1000 pounds butter, the National Ice Cream Company 4272 pounds of butter fat, the Oakland Creamery 1000 cans of cream and the Russell Creamery 72,000 pounds of cream.

One hundred thousand acres of lima beans will be grown this year in the five southern counties of California, viz.: Ventura, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Orange and San Diego counties. Last year's crop, 1,500,000 bags of 80 pounds each, was valued at $6,000,000. This year the crop is estimated at 2,000,000 bags, in value $8,000,000.

Battle Creek fish hatchery, near the junction of the creek with the Sacramento river, reports this the most successful season in twenty-five years. There are at present over 5,000,000 salmon being fed at the hatchery, and plans are being made to feed over 15,000,000 more of the new hatch, which will be ready in the course of a few weeks. There were 22,000,000 salmon eggs planted last fall.

Major J. A. Drifill, manager of the California interests of the American Beet Sugar Company, one of the biggest sugar manufacturers of the United States, with factories in Colorado, Michigan and California, has leased land from W. J. Hole between Riverside and Corona on the Pacific Electric railroad and has begun the plowing of that land for the raising of sugar beets.

Official figures for Glenn county show a gratifying growth in the farming district for the past two years. The Project census shows a population on irrigated farms of 1333, as compared with 896 in 1913. The most noticeable increase along any line is that for dairy stock, which totals 2459 as against 1384 for 1913. Forty-nine new farms were developed during the year.

The Eham Olive Company, of Olinda, Shasta county, will set out 612 acres to olives, interest with peaches. The trees for this extensive planting are now being examined by the County Horticultural Commissioner. This company is the owner of 1800 full-bearing trees. The entire 1800 acres will be set to olives.

A. B. Comfort, Guernsey, Kings county, is developing one of the largest chicken ranches in that section. He now has on hand 3000 thoroughbred fowls, mostly of the Rhode Island Red variety, and has ordered 2000 baby chicks from a firm in Petaluma. Mr. Comfort expects to raise at least 20,000 chickens on his ranch this year.

Shasta county farmers are going into wheat raising this season on a much larger scale than ever before. The high price of the staple as a result of the European war is the cause. Farmers who have never gone farther than to raise wheat for hay are sowing every spare acre to wheat that will be ripened.

The grazing permits to be issued to stockmen for grazing on public lands of California for 1915 will aggregate nearly a million meat animals. There will be 212,000 cattle and horses, 505,750 sheep, 8000 swine. This is a material increase over the number of permits issued in 1914.

No strawberries from ranches about Monrovia may be expected before the first of April, or thereabouts, according to truck gardeners, who say the recent heavy rains beat the vines down and ruined the blossoms and small berries.

That the United States may know the wonderful food value of ripe olives as also the delicate flavor of the fruit growers and packers in the Oroville district have planned a publicity campaign and have selected March 31 as Olive day.

The season's planting of fruit trees in Hemet Valley will aggregate 800 acres, nearly as much as last year. Of this year's planting apricots and walnuts constitute the largest acreage, while peaches and olives are not inconsiderable.

Work has begun on the construction of a new canning plant at Pomona. The building will be 95 feet wide and 875 feet long. Boyd Hocker will be superintendent and H. A. Von Heinert manager of the factory.

Several thousand acres of grazing land in the vicinity of Salinas have been cleared of oak and sycamores, and planted with fruit trees, mostly apple and pear.

The rice acreage of Butte county will be increased by between 30 and 50 per cent this year, according to statements from the rice districts. The total acreage for 1915 is estimated at from 20,000 to 25,000 acres.

Kings County Association of Bee Keepers has shipped its second carload of honey for this season to the east. The honey brings four cents per pound. C. C. Threlkeld, a Dinuba banker, has started planting 100 acres of olives in the Orange Cove district, near Dinuba.

Seven hundred and fifty acres have been planted to rice in the region about Corcoran. Last year the acreage was 100.

Four million pounds of dried fruit were packed at the Farmer's Union Packing Company's plant at Lindsay in 1914.

Horses for artillery use in the French army are being purchased in San Benito county by agents of France.

Laden with a full cargo of California barley, the British steamer Strathgarny has cleared from Port Costa for Queenstown, and the Danish motorship Annam will load 9000 tons of barley for Copenhagen.

There are in Riverside county at the present time the following foreign populations: Mexicans, 16,050; Chinese, 300; Japanese, 600; Russians, 34; Hungarians, 38; Italians, 300; Austrians, 60.

By an order of the superior court in Visalia, granted on petition, the Tagus Farm and Dairy Company, one of the largest farming corporations in the San Joaquin Valley will be dissolved.

It is estimated that the orchard planting of the Grass Valley Districts this season will aggregate about 4000 acres, or 40,000 trees. The new orchards will be largely apple and pear.

Property owners west of Gridley, Butte county, are organizing a drainage district to comprise about 20,000 acres. A committee is now at work perfecting the organization of the district.

Dairymen living in the section around Fresno have received a lump sum of $75,000 for their January cream, according to the usual method of arriving at approximations.

Tulare and associated creameries paid out a total of $70,000 for cream delivered during January. Prices ranged from 30 to 34 cents per pound for butter fat.

GOOD ROADS ASSOCIATION THREE STATES BOOSTED HERE

Success is rewarding the efforts of C. H. Potter and J. M. Stafford, of Los Angeles, to establish an auxiliary branch of the Tri-State Good Roads Association here. Sixteen Santa Ana people have already joined the organization here and it is expected that 200 members will be secured in this locality.

The Tri-State Good Road Association has auxiliary branches in California, Oregon and Washington. Two delegates from Santa Ana will attend the Pacific Coast Good Roads Congress in San Francisco, 2, 1915, which date is shining August 2, 1915, which date is specially designated by the officers and directors of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition as the Tri-State Good Roads Association day. More than 3000 delegates from eastern highway associations will attend the convention, the third in the history of the organization.

Among the purposes of the convention will be to hold a free and open discussion of proposed or already existing legislation favorable to the building of good roads and to secure adequate legislation wherever necessary; to discuss the best methods available for government aid; appropriation of funds for improved roads and the appointment of Federal Good Roads Commissioners with proper qualifications; to answer all questions and discuss all problems of road construction and maintenance such as location, grade, drainage, surfacing,

Renewed Russian attacks near Plock have been unsuccessful and a night attack at Serniewicz has also failed. This is claimed in official statements today.

PROPOSE BUYING A PERMANENT HOME

The directors of the Home Mutual Building and Loan Association have under consideration the selection and purchase of a piece of property for a permanent home for the institution. It now has assets of over $500,000.00 and seems to demand quarters that are specially fitted to handle the increasing business.

When the association was compelled to move its office about ten years ago, the advisability of purchasing a building was under discussion. Five years ago when obliged again to make a change the matter was given further consideration. In each instance leases that were very favorable caused a postponement of the question. The lease in the present location is about to expire and the directors think it an opportune time to purchase and fit up a permanent home.

A committee has been appointed to recommend a location and it is now working with a good prospect of coming to a decision within the next two weeks. The properties offered ten years ago have more than doubled in value; the offers of five years ago can not be secured even at an increase of fifty per cent but necessities must be had even when "the cost of living" is high.

SEED PLANTING IN PROGRESS IN COUNTY

Warm weather during the last few days has had the effect of stimulating vegetable seed planting throughout the county and especially in the Villa Park section, where the Orange County Vegetable Association has between 150 to 200 acres devoted to vegetable growing this year.

It is estimated that at Villa Park bean growers lost between $200 to $300 as a result of the rotting and flooding of beans planted early in the year. However, all the parcels of land affected in this way are now being replanted and the growers are looking forward to good crops, though these may be a trifle late.

The Association is shipping about 300 crates of rhubarb every week now, the product being shipped mostly to Coast points. It is rather late for shipments of rhubarb to the east and for this reason there are no shipments being made beyond the Rockies.

The average price received by the Association for rhubarb is 60 cents per crate, f. o. b. Villa Park.

In addition to rhubarb the Association is shipping a small quantity of bell peppers, peas, chile peppers, tomatoes and egg plant.

Prices are very good. They are running from two to three times as high as during the corresponding time last year.

GIANTS HAVE CHANCE TO WIN NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT

NEW YORK, March 5.—The Giants have an excellent chance to win the National League pennant this almost here season. The best the Yankees are hoping for is a first division berth this year. That, insubstance, is the way New York is looking at the coming pennant fight. And there is a lot more interest in both teams this year than there was last. The monotonous succession of pennants the Giants won rather killed interest in them from the sportsman's standpoint. Losing last year's flag has stimulated the salivated appetite. Interest in the Yanks was dead last year, principally because of the ownership and the way the club was run. This year the owners are popular, as is the new manager, Bill Donovan. It will be surprising if 1915 isn't the banner year in New York baseball, despite the cry of "hard times and a lean year."

McGraw's Team O. K. With the exception of his pitching staff McGraw has as good a team to start the pennant fight as any manager on the circuit—and a whole lot better than most of them. The return of Tillie Shafer would give him a mighty sweet infield. As it is, he has a nicely balanced one. Merkle on first will probably perform in his usual style. Should Shafer really return he and Larry Doyle would put up a pretty scrap for second. Fletcher on short seems to have his position clinched and there is practically no doubt at all that Hans Lobert will be seen pickin' them off around third.

Lobert at third has solved a great problem for McGraw. Many is the game that rolled away through Eddie Grant and Milton Stock last year while McGraw sat on the bench cursing the day he ever let Charley Herzog get away to Cincinnati. Yes, McGraw has an infield that will compare favorably with any in Tener's circuit.

Four Regular Outfielders In the outfield there are four regulars—Shodgrass, Burns, Murray and Robertson. All four are dependable men—good fielders and steady with the bludgeon. Jim Thorpe, the big Indian, expects to make a hard fight this year for a regular berth.

McGraw freely admits his pitching staff is giving him worry. Mathewson, Tesreau and Fromme are his only veterans, as Rube Marquard's case is unsettled. He has two youngsters who have sat on the bench for two seasons now and they should be about ready for the firing line. They are Schuyler and Schupp.

McGraw probably is depending more this year on his fifty-year old recruits he paid expenses to Marlin for than ever before. He needs a young catcher and could use a couple of promising young hurlers. Meyers and McLean will probably bear the brunt of the receiving again this season.

Donovan's Hurling Staff Good Bill Donovan's best asset is his pitching staff. It stacks up favorably with any in the league. Caldwell, Keating, Warhop, Fisher, Brown and a number of promising rookies comprise his hopes. Frank Chance once said that Ray Caldwell was the best pitcher in the American League.

From this early angle it appears the big thing that is going to keep Donovan's crew down in the race is its lack of batting strength. If Pipp and High come to terms this will be partly solved, as Pipp especially is a snappy hitter. Pipp is generally conceded first base if he comes to the Yanks; if not, then Charley Mullen undoubtedly will cover the bag again.

Luke Boone appears the most likely candidate for second. He played the bag the greater part of last season. Peckinpaugh, of course, will assume his old place at short, and there doesn't seem any chance for Fritz Malsel to be rooted out of his position at third.

Yanks Have Fast Fielders The Yanks have a fast fielding outfield, but, like the rest of the team, weak at the plate. Birdie Cree is fairly certain of a berth; Cook, Holden, Hartzel and High. If the Tigers will relinquish him, will scrap it out for the other two places. Behind the bat Donovan is fairly well supplied in Ed Sweeney and Leslie Nunemaker. They are seasoned, steady, and should perform creditably.

Support is going to do a lot to keep the players keyed up to the fighting pitch this year. They know the bugs are behind them and it's going to help a lot. Last year the fans were soured on the club. The wide publicity given the sale of the club and the individual players is sure to have some effect.

The American League, it seems, rather handed Col. Rupert and Capt. Huston a lemon, in that all the "stars" they were promised if they would take the club have failed to materialize. That is going to have its effect. The Yanks are considered rather in the class of the Braves and the public is always—especially in baseball—with the under pup.

Taking it all in all New York is fairly well satisfied with the way the baseball situation is stacking up at this really stage of game.

TAX ON HATS

Not only have hats at various times been subject to taxation, but have even been made the subject of special laws. Thus in Henry VII's reign none was allowed to sell hats at a larger price than 20 pence or caps for more than 2s 8d.

Some compensation, however, for this interference with free trade could be found in the fact that in 1571 on Sundays and holidays every one above seven years of age was required to wear a cap of wool of English make under penalty of 3 farthings' fine for every day's neglect.—London Chronicle.

YELLOWSTONE PARK

Yellowstone Park has an area of 2,142,720 acres. The park is in Montana, Wyoming and Idaho and was established in 1872. The only park on earth that can compare with the Yellowstone in size is the one in New British Columbia. Jasper Park, taken over by the authorities of the new Northwestern territory, has an area of 3,200,000 acres—about the size of the state of Connecticut.—New York American.

Woolwich Once a Roman Cemetery Woolwich arsenal only dates from 1716, but Woolwich's military connections go further back. Batteries were erected there against the Dutch in 1667, and as early as the reign of Henry VII the spot had begun to be associated with the navy. And even earlier Woolwich was well known, for the Roman Watling street crossed Shooter's hill, and the site of the arsenal was once a Roman cemetery.—London Spectator.

TOO MUCH PUSH

"You must push matters a little, James," said a druggist to his new boy. "By calling a customer's attention to this article and that article you often effect a sale."

"Yes, sir," responded the new boy, and then he hastened to wait upon an elderly person who wanted a stamp. "Anything else, mum?" inquired the ambitious boy politely. "Hair dye, cosmetics, face powder, rheumatic drops, belladonna, mole destroyer"—The elderly lady deals over the way now.

WHEN NOTRE DAME'S BELL TOLLS

One of the most interesting sights of Notre Dame is the ringing of the great bourdon, the giant bell of the cathedral. It can be seen by those who happen to visit the belfry at noon on Good Friday. There are no ropes; the huge mass is swung by a sort of seesaw, on which the ringers perform curious gymnastics. The tone of the bell is so pure that one may stand quite close and suffer no more inconvenience than from the sounding of a thirty-two-foot organ pipe. Huysmans has described the ringing in one of his novels.—Pall Mall Gazette.

GETTING THE BUSINESS

"What is that letter?" asked the busy merchant. "Answer to your letter to a young lady proposing matrimony. Replying to your esteemed favor, the young lady declines."

FRESHMEN-SOPH COLOR RUSH IS ON FOR THIS EVENING

Students Are Awaiting Event, Which Promises to Become Annual Affair

The freshman-sophomore color rush will be held this evening at the bonfire at the Polytechnic grounds. This affair, which is to be made annual, promises to be an exciting event. The entire school will be out tonight to watch the procedure.

Yesterday evening the upper classmen met in the study hall and carried a motion that the upper classmen would do absolutely no "hazing." The sophomores will meet at 3:30 to discuss plans for the rush.

The Santa Ana Poly High School vs. Whittier High School baseball game is Saturday. The game is to be played on the Poly grounds. It promises to be an exciting game, as both teams have good material. A large crowd is expected out, and all who have not previously attended the games, should do so.

The Orange County High School League will hold a track and field meet March 13, on the Anaheim grounds. Santa Ana, Huntington Beach, Fullerton and Orange are members of this league. Point winners will receive gold, silver and bronze medals. A silver cup will be awarded to the team receiving the most points, and a silver cup will be awarded to the individual who scores the most points.

Assembly was held this afternoon between the sixth and seventh periods. The Boys' Glee Club met at the Hickox Studio today for Aerial photos. They will meet next week as usual for practice.

Important baseball batting practice was held this evening after school, at the Poly grounds.

ANAHEIM BREAKS RECORD IN BUILDING ACTIVITY

Many Substantial Structures
Under Way or Soon to Be Constructed

1915 Will Be a Banner Year in the Matter of Anaheim
Improvements

Anaheim Gazette: Should all the building propositions now under consideration be carried to a successful issue the year 1915 will see so many important changes that certain sections of the business district will be so transformed as to be unrecognizable. Some of these buildings are now under construction, others under contract, and still others only under consideration at present, but pretty certain to develop into facts. Architect Eugene Durfee states that he has several orders on his list for important building designs that are not yet ripe for publication. They will be splendid additions to the architecture of the city.

Chief among the buildings to be erected this summer is the new hotel which John Ziegler proposes to build on the site of the present Commercial House at the corner of Lemon and Center streets. For many years a hotel suitable to the needs of the growing town has been agitated by the Board of Trade. Several projects were considered but an unexpected hitch always spoiled the deal before it was consummated, but Mr. Ziegler has now come forward with the announcement

OLD-TIME COLD CURE— DRINK HOT TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Tee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teaspoon full at any time during the day or before retiring. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores of the skin, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking up a cold.

Try it the next time you suffer from a cold or the grip. It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore safe and harmless.

Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" right on the "tender spot," and by the time you say Jack Robinson—out comes the rheumatic pain. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism cure which never disappoints and doesn't burn the skin. It takes pain, soreness and stiffness from aching joints, muscles and bones; stops sciatica, lumbago, backache, neuralgia. Limber up! Get a 25 cent bottle of old-time, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and in a moment you'll be free from pains, aches and stiffness. Don't suffer! Rub rheumatism away.

Anaheim Is Forging Ahead Builds Blocks, Residences

that he contemplates the erection of a building that will furnish ample accommodations to the transient trade.

Architect Durfee is now engaged in drawing up plans for the building. It will have a 70-foot frontage on Center street and 103 feet on Lemon. It will be four stories high surmounted by a glass-enclosed roof garden, which will contain, besides the lounging and observation room, a private dining room. The building will contain 57 sleeping rooms, 24 private baths and six public baths. On the ground floor a wide corridor will extend from Center street to the large dining room which will accommodate 100 guests. The dining room will also have an entrance on Lemon street. The second story of the building on the east now occupied by the Anaheim National Bank will be part of the hotel. It is 30x70 feet in extent and will contain a ladies' parlor and ladies' writing room. The bank will occupy the corner room and the bar the east room, the corridor being between them. An automatic elevator is to extend from the corridor to the roof garden. The front is finished in cream artificial stone and red ruffled brick. The cost of the structure, exclusive of grounds, is $40,000. The front is to set back eight feet from the present sidewalk to conform to the new frontage line, and the bank building also will be cut down.

Plans for remodeling the Odd Fellows building on West Center have been accepted and work will immediately begin. Eight feet will also be cut from the street end of this building and a new front built, as well as a third story added. The front, according to plans, is constructed of cream enameled brick with cream artificial stone trimmings. The entrance is to be finished in marble and tile. The banquet room, where so many feasts have been enjoyed, will be removed to the third story, which will also contain a billiard room. The old banquet hall will be cut up into office suites and small rooms for the use of the lodge officials. The cost of the alterations is estimated at $9000. This building has a frontage of 80 feet on center street.

Another beautiful building in the same neighborhood is the Yungbluth block, which will be under construction in a short time. The new building will absorb the old one, now occupied by his clothing store, and will be set back on the new frontage line. It will have a 60-foot frontage and a depth of 108 feet. The front will be built of brown ruffled brick with large cream joints, trimmed with cream artificial stone. Mr. Yungbluth will move his store into the new room and M. W. Marten's hardware store will move into the west room. The second story will be divided into nine suites of housekeeping apartments. Work on the Fischer block has been in progress more than two weeks, and the walls are rapidly going up. This building has a 60-foot frontage and joins walls with the Yungbluth and Odd Fellows buildings. The ground floor will contain three store rooms, the front half of the second and third stories is devoted to office rooms, while the rear half will be a splendidly fitted lodge room with a 19-foot ceiling.

Masons are also at work on the Carroll building on North Los Angeles street. It is only one story in height, but will contain three store rooms.

These are the most substantial buildings now being built or soon to be under construction. There are many residences now in the hands of the builders, and several beautiful ones in contemplation. Advocates of the civic center and park proposition, which was endorsed at a recent mass meeting of the people, confidently claim that as one of the coming improvements in Anaheim. Whether their plans carry or not, it is reasonably certain that a new city hall will be built in Anaheim within a year, and it will be the finest municipal building in the county.

Material for construction of the buildings and yards of Anaheim's newest industry, the meat packing establishment, is being hauled to the grounds adjoining the sugar factory. Messrs. Reuther & Hoesco, owners of the plant, have secured thirty acres of ground, twenty by purchase and ten by lease, and are putting $40,000 in buildings and equipment on it. Half of this sum is in buildings, the balance in machinery and equipment. They will fatten their stock in the yards, and expect to slaughter thousands of animals each year.

BUILD BIG HOME ON TUSTIN AVENUE

Work has been begun on a new residence, to cost about $3,200, for E. C. H. Franzen on Tustin avenue. The home will combine features of the Swiss chalet and bungalow styles of architecture. It is to have nine rooms. A brick porchway will be one of the features. A large fireplace, of tile, with a copper hood, will be one of the most striking features of the large living room. A handsome den is also incorporated in the design. In this room there will be built-in bookcases. The dining room, which will be large and roomy, will have built-in seats. Plans were prepared by Architects Elwing & Tedford.

LA HABRA SCHOOL IS NOW IN OPERATION

The new $31,000 grade school at La Habra was turned over to teachers and pupils early this week. The school is one of the most striking in Southern California. It has an auditorium which is rivalled by but few schools in the state.

MEAT MARKET FRONT IS TO BE IMPROVED

The Bergman & Obarr Market at the corner of Broadway and Fourth will be remodelled. The front of the property will be changed and numerous and attractive changes made in the interior. The improvements will cost about $500. W. A. Huff and H. T. Rutherford are the owners of the property.

Plans for the work have been completed by Architect J. Flood Walker. Chief among the changes will be the suspension of the office from the ceiling at the front. A six-inch base of marble will be used for the exterior. The old plate glass will be used for the windows wherever practicable.

CONSIDER ADVISABILITY OF BUILDING FINE NEW WALNUT PACKING HOUSE

Next Tuesday the stockholders of the Santa Ana Valley Walnut Growers' Association will consider the advisability of building a house for the use of the association. An adjourned meeting is to be held next Tuesday at 1:30 o'clock at the Santa Ana city hall.

Notes on Building Activities

Placentia Courier: Slow progress is being made on the new Cline block owing to the frequent rains. The building has been leased for a term of three years by J. A. Poor and will be occupied by him as a barber shop down stairs and rooming house on the second floor.

MORE BUILDING SOON

Stanton Optimist: The Stanton City Improvement Company seems to be getting ready to do some work to push Stanton farther on to the map. An assessment of ten per cent has been ordered and must be paid in within a short time. This will provide a considerable amount of money for operations. Rumor has it that one of the things done will be to build a half dozen new residences in Stanton to meet the demand for places in which to live.

Now it will be a great convenience to the entire section to have the facilities close at hand.

INCORPORATION AT PLACENTIA IS ADVOCATED

Population is Now 800, According to Recent Census; Only 500 Needed to Incorporate Placentia Courier: That the population of Placentia, "The Town that Grows," is now 800, will come as a surprise to even those who are residents of the city, but this fact was proved by the recent census taken by Mr. Benjamin Kraemer to establish the population of this township.

This is 300 above the population required before a town may be incorporated. Placentia residents, the business men particularly, are strongly in favor of incorporation, and the need and benefits of same are being evidenced by frequent happenings.

This summer should see other steps taken toward the incorporation of Placentia.

Trade Balance Growing

The trade balance, as shown by excess of exports over imports, touched a new high mark in the history of the country last month with a total of $145,536,103, according to complete figures for January given out by the Department of Commerce. Exports for January were $267,801,370 against $204,066,603 a year ago, and imports were $122,265,267 against $154,742,923 in January, 1914. Gold imports last month were $6,896,398 against $10,442,373 a year ago, while gold export was $691,509 against $6,914,056 in January, 1914.

The total number of producing wells it will be seen is 48 less than in December. The total number of producing wells in the United States on January 31 was 164,396 compared with 161,217 December 31, 1914.

Speaking of the field work for January in the Eastern oil producing region the Oil City Derrick says:

"The features of the field work for January in the oil regions east of the Rockies, compared with the December figures, were a further loss in wells completed; a small decrease in new production, and a moderate decline in new work under way at the close of the month. In January 931 wells were completed, credited with an initial production of 148,535 barrels. The figures show 121 fewer completions, and a decline in new production of 5,773 barrels, compared with December. In January, 1914, a year ago, there were 2,249 wells completed or 1,318 more than shown by the present report. But most of the wells were in the old fields, and the new production was only 56,781 barrels, or 91,754 barrels less than now. Cushing had not then become prominent for its gusher wells."

This year California, at the present rate of its production, will advance to the head of the list of the oil producing states in the United States in the total amount produced, surpassing Pennsylvania, which has heretofore stood first with a total production since the discovery of oil there in 1859 of 753,000,000 barrels. Oil was first produced in California in 1876, and since that date up to December 31 last the production in the state totaled 745,000,000 barrels.

Blame for High Prices

The law of supply and demand is to blame for the present record price of grain, according to C. H. Canby, president of the Chicago Board of Trade. "Present quotations are a 'world price' induced by the heavy demand in Europe for American wheat. Mr. Canby said, "Any speculation there may have been," he declared, "is but a drop in the bucket compared with Europe's demand. The American consumer is simply bidding for the nation's surplus wheat against the foreign buyers and high prices have resulted. No man, no number of men, nothing in the world could have caused artificially the recent rise in the price of wheat. It is impossible, from the nature of the market, to believe there has been any conspiracy in restraint of trade."

Billions Expended By Railroads

"In improvements and extensions in the last ten years the railroads have expended two billion dollars," declares Julius Kruttschnitt, chairman of the Board of Directors of the Southern Pacific railroad, in an article in the annual review of the Railway Age. He also declared that: "In spite of this fact, the railroads for 1914 will earn a smaller surplus than they did before the expansions were made. Because railroads cannot pay higher rates for capital than they can make it earn, they have been forced to stop purchasing locomotives and reduce expenditures for maintenance and improvements."

"Prosperity Hurrying Toward Us"

"I see a big wave of prosperity coming. It is due to better prices for crops and a larger acreage. The financial cloud is lifting and everyone is gaining confidence. There is no reason for any of us to be frightened, because prosperity is hurrying toward us." This optimistic utterance is from the annual address of W. M. Vickery of Blackwell, Okla., president of the Western Retail Implement, Vehicle and Hardware Dealers' Association, delivered this week at the annual meeting of the association in Kansas City this week.

Rail Rates To Coast Lowered

Transcontinental roads in order to meet new traffic conditions which have arisen with the opening of the Panama canal have been permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish certain commodity rates from Eastern points to Pacific Coast terminals lower than those to intermediate points in intermountain territory. This action means the recovery of many millions of lost revenue. The order or ruling is counted upon by shippers to keep coast markets open to Middle West competitors to the advantage of producers and consumers.

Attacks Iowa Blue Sky Law

An appeal from the United States courts of Iowa in the matter of the Blue Sky law of the state has been filed with the Supreme Court of the United States. It is the first case in which the validity of a blue sky law as an issue has been docketed in the Supreme Court.

True Function Reserve Banks

The true function of the Federal Reserve banks is to protect the interests of the people," declares Charles S. Hamlin, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board. "Their duty," he continued, "is not alone to meet emergencies, but, so far as possible, to prevent emergencies from arising, and while ordinarily they do not and are not intended to compete with commercial banks, yet occasions may arise where such competition, through the exercise of their open market powers, will be necessary for the protection of the people of the United States. It is often said that the Federal reserve banks are bankers' banks, but this is true only to the extent that they deal primarily with the member banks. Their true function is to protect the interests of the people. Under the Federal Reserve system we shall see no more financial panics."

The board has issued regulations governing the discount or purchase of bankers' acceptances. The Federal Reserve act authorized national banks to purchase acceptances based on the importation or exportation of goods and the board's regulations indicate how banks may avail themselves of the aid of the Federal reserve banks in securing the rediscount of such paper, and lay down the lines by which the reserve banks themselves will be guided in purchases of acceptance in the open market.

Although under the new regulations the reserve banks are not barred from outright purchases of acceptances, the board indicates a present preference for discount of such paper, presented by member or other banks. The board announces that acceptances must be "payable in dollars, in the United States," a step toward making the dollar at least one of the mediums of international exchange.

"The acceptance is still in its infancy in the field of American banking," the board says in a circular. "How rapid its development will be cannot be foretold; but the development itself is certain. Opportunity is given by the Federal Reserve act to assist the movement in this new direction. The acceptance is the standard form of paper in the world discount market," it continues. "By reason of its being readily marketable, it is widely regarded as a most desirable paper in the secondary reserve of banks and will help to provide an effective substitute for the 'call loan.' Its growth, however, will depend upon the ability of the American market to adjust its rates effectually to those prevailing in other markets for paper of this class."

"Federal reserve banks may from time to time submit for the approval of the board maximum and minimum rates within which they desire to be authorized to deal in acceptances; within such limits and subject to such modification as may be imposed by the board, Federal reserve banks will be allowed to establish the rates at which they will deal in acceptances."

The board says preferential treatment should be allowed on acceptances bearing the endorsement of member banks, and will sanction such a preferential, but points out that Federal Reserve Banks which desire to purchase such paper not so endorsed may do so, though they should restrict operations to acceptances bearing some other signature than that of the drawer and acceptor, preferably that of a bank or banker. The acceptance, the regulations say, must bear or be accompanied by evidence satisfactory to a reserve bank, that it originated in an actual bona fide sale or consignment involving importation or exportation of goods.

"In framing their policy with respect to acceptances," says the board, "Federal Reserve Banks will have to consider not only local demands to be expected from their own members, but also requirements to be met in other districts. The plan to be followed must in each case adapt itself to the constantly varying needs of the country."

Belgian Beet-Sugar Factories at Work

Contrary to the prevailing belief that this year's output of beet sugar in Belgium would be negligible, a correspondent of the London Times reports, under the date of January 23, that nearly all of the Belgian factories are at work, including those at Wanze and Huy, between Liege and Namur, and at Tirlemont. The manufacturers have no expectation of making any profits, but they are doing a great work in that they are saving $6,000,000 worth of beets and are providing employment and a livelihood for their hands.

American Enterprise in Chile

At Coquimbo, Chile, the Bethlehem Steel Company, of the United States, has lately let the contract for the construction of a 24-mile railway to Messrs. Ross & Slaughter. The former is Scotch and the latter American. The Slaughter & Triest Company, of New York, is building the docks at Coquimbo to handle the iron ore from the mines to the vessels, and the man who is in charge of the docks tells me that ore shipments in small quantities are now being set north.

Talk of Oil Merger

The matter of a proposed oil merger in which the Union Oil company of California, General Petroleum and the California Oil Corporation figure, which has been talked of several times among oil men, is again revived. Included in the merger would be 150 companies now known as the Independent Oil Producers' Agency of California. Those cognizant of affairs in the companies named are reticent as to details but said negotiations are under way but nothing definite could be given out.

Germany Needs Money

German financiers have been summoned to a conference in Berlin with the Finance Minister, who considers that a new loan of $1,250,000,000 is required for the continuation of the war. It is thought that a large part of this loan will be subscribed by the Krupps and other German firms in exchange for new army contracts.

Large Order for Ornamental Brick

Perhaps the largest order for ornamental brick ever given on the Pacific slope was the one placed this week by the J. W. Robinson company for 1050 tons, fifty-two car loads, to be used on their new building under construction at the corner of Seventh and Grand Avenue.

Gold Yield New South Wales

Official returns prepared at Sydney, Australia, show the yield of gold for the State of New South Wales last year to have been 124,507 ounces fine, valued at $2,573,760, as compared with 149,657 ounces valued at $3,092,648, in 1913.

ADVANCING COMMON SCHOOL EDUCATION

Practical Intermediate Courses for Children Who Cannot Attain Higher Education

In the furtherance of the desire of the State Board of Education to provide common school education for children who are liable to leave school comparatively early in life, a proposal for intermediate courses has been framed and embodied in Senate Bill No. 439, introduced by Senator Benedict of Los Angeles.

The measure, if it becomes a law, will permit high schools to prescribe intermediate courses and admit there to any pupils who have completed the sixth year of the grammar grade. These courses will cover, in the first two years, the subjects generally taught in the seventh and eighth grades of the elementary schools, and such other high school, vocational and industrial courses as may be considered advisable.

The idea is that children taking the intermediate courses will, at the end of the usual grammar course, have received instruction in studies which will prove especially valuable to them in the workaday world in case their education ceases at this time, but it is also believed that the influence of the instruction in vocational and industrial work, which children will thus have had in the previous two years, will tend to make children strongly desire to continue in school, and for these pupils advanced work along vocational lines, including the usual secondary educational studies, will be prescribed. In this way an intermediate course of four years, including two grammar years and two high school years, will be made very valuable in extending the schooling of pupils who usually stop at the end of the eighth grade, better preparing them all for the duties and responsibilities of life.

The law will provide a strict accounting of the pupils' time so that the cost of schooling in the intermediate grades will be divided between the elementary and high school districts in the same manner as if the first two years were spent in common school and the second two in the secondary school.

A very active and strong market continues on rice, and the prices from producer to wholesaler are still showing an upward trend. Blue rose and Japan rice has been selling for the highest prices known, while California and southern rice is also selling at a good figure. Blue rose is said to have gone as high as 5 cents, and Japan to 5 1/2 cents at mill. Unless the various endeavors to stop all steamship traffic to Europe hold, there is little doubt in the minds of the majority of rice men that the American crop will be fully cleaned up no later than May.

The egg market showed surprising firmness yesterday morning, prices going up instead of down. Receipts were 714 cases, and the new case count price is 20 cents. In the north the market remained at 20 1/2 on case count. Butter arrivals were 39,350 pounds, and because of the increasing arrival of milk, and the necessity for disposing of some of this in the manufacture of butter, the price dropped to 24 cents here on creamery extras. A decline in the north was also reported.

PLANT ALMONDS

On this continent Almonds are only grown in California and the U. S. market alone demands four times the present supply. Plant almonds at Templeton or Paso Robles and make money—it's a cinch.

PLANT PEARS

for profit! California Bartlett Pears are in a class by themselves and monopolize the market. Did you know that Templeton-Paso Robles district produces the fancy grade of Bartlett, Winter Nellis and Du Comice.

PLANT CHERRIES

They are the most attractive and the best fruit of the summer season, and are very profitable. Soil and climate near Templeton produce a fine quality. Trees forty years old in family orchards are the indisputable evidence.

PLANT PRUNES

The Prune industry of California ranks first in the world, over one-half of the world's product being grown in California, and the dried product now finds a ready market in all countries. Prunes grown near Templeton are rich in sugar, fine of flavor, good size, and lose less weight in drying because grown without irrigation.

PERHAPS

You are more familiar with Apple and Walnut growing. Come to the office and let us show you apples and walnuts grown there. We also have a lot of views which will give you a good idea of the beauty of the country, and we want to tell you what's doing and who is doing it. We've also some cracker jack little stock ranches—combination of alfalfa, grain and fruit land, with some pasture land—live creek and springs, oak trees for beauty, shade and fuel, etc. Prices under actual value.

ORANGE TO HAVE A NEW BRICK BUILDING
Plan Addition to Edwards
Block on North Glassell in Near Future

Orange News: N. T. Edwards, owner of the Edwards building on North Glassell, has announced plans for the construction of a two-story addition to the building, work to commence very soon.
The addition will face the plaza, joining the original block at the rear of the Woods dry goods store and filling the open alley-way which at present extends along the back of the building. The building occupied by Robinson's paint store will be moved aside to make way for the new structure.
The new addition will be 56 feet by 34 feet in dimensions and will cost approximately $5000. The ground floor will be divided into two sections, one of which will be fitted up as a five-room office suite for Dr. A. A. Dammann. The second floor will be planned for offices.
The addition also calls for some slight changes in the older building. The stairway to the Edwards apartments will be moved a few feet east, adding more room to the Woods dry goods store. A splendid new front is already being installed at the Woods store, which will be greatly improved.

HUNTINGTON BEACH LOOKS GOOD TO THEM
Huntington Beach News: Charles A. Krueger, a building contractor and designer of Long Beach, and E. L. Krusbinck, a capitalist of that place, were in Huntington Beach, Saturday, looking over the field with a view to building houses on the installment plan.
These gentlemen make the statement that they are in a position to build any number of houses for parties who may have clear title to property in this city. While they have not decided to purchase property themselves and build houses for sale, they may do so later, as they were very favorably impressed with the prospects for development in this vicinity in the near future.
Mr. Krueger has built a large number of houses in Long Beach during the past three years, and hopes to find several lot owners here who may desire to build during this year.

BEACH PROSPEROUS
Huntington Beach News: W. C. O'Connor, the well known real estate man, has taken an interest in the Pacific Coast Broom Factory, and the name of the concern has been changed to the Pacific Coast Broom Company.
The firm was established by John A. Van Winkle, an experienced manufacturer in his line, and has been a success from the start, supplying the trade in Southern California and Arizona. Mr. O'Connor will have charge of the sales department of the business and will make a strong effort to increase the output of the factory.

RUSHING WORK ON ANAHEIM BUILDINGS
Anaheim Plain Dealer: A large force of brick masons and other artisans is pushing construction work on the Fisher 3-story building with the result that the walls are growing skyward at a rate that is highly satisfactory to Mr. Fisher.
On the Carroll business building, construction work is likewise progressing at a good rate.
The Fisher building will be the first 3-story structure to be erected in the city. It will cost about $20,000. The Carroll building will be a one-story affair, and cost about $8000.

FIRST NATIONAL AT ANAHEIM TO HAVE ADDITIONAL STORY
Extensive changes will soon be made at the First National Bank at Anaheim. J. Flood Walker of this city has been commissioned as architect for the work. A second story will be added to the present building and the entire exterior will be remodeled. It is planned to alter the design of the interior and new decorations will probably be put in.

WEST CENTER
SOON TO SEE MORE CHANGES

Anaheim Herald: The local Odd Fellows' lodge will commence the remodeling of their building about the 15th of this month. The front will be demolished and a new one put up on the new line, eight feet back. An additional story will be added to the building and a number of other changes will be made to the interior.
When these changes have been made and the new Fisher building of three stories has been completed this side of West Center street will have been greatly improved and will be quite metropolitan in appearance as soon as the few remaining old buildings have been removed.
The owners of these old buildings are expected to make united effort to get them removed and new and up-to-date ones erected in their places.

FULLERTON
BRINGING IN NEW
OIL WELLS IN BIG
FULLERTON FIELD

Fullerton Tribune: Operations of the oil field companies in the Fullerton field continue active. Several new wells have been brought in recently and a number are nearing completion.
The Union Oil Company, operating in the Graham and Loftus lease, has just brought in well No. 25, pumping 150 barrels daily. Well No. 13 is down to a depth of 3050 feet, drilling with the rotary, and No. 29, of the same company is progressing nicely.
Preparations are being made by the Fullerton Great West Oil Company to bring in well No. 2 at a depth of 2135 feet. Well No. 1 is carrying a string of 6-inch casing at a depth of 3550 feet.
The Birch Oil Company is preparing to bring in well No. 7.
The St. Helena Petroleum Company is pumping water off their well on the Edmondson lease. The other well, Johnson No. 2, is drilling at a depth of 2900 feet.
The Standard Company has completed a rig on the Palmer lease and has started one on the Coyote lease, No. 3.

JACOB STERN PURCHASES
LEFFINGWELL 260 ACRES
One of the large cash acreage transactions in the past few months was closed Wednesday between C. W. Leffingwell as seller and Jacob Stern of the Stern Realty Co. as buyer. The land comprises 260 acres in West La Habra. The consideration is announced at $100,000, no part of which was traded.
The property is now supplied with water and is ready for subdivision and planting. It is the intention of the buyer to place it upon the market at once, selling water stock with the various parcels. The acreage adjoins the widely known Leffingwell lemon orchard, one of the show tracts of the East Whittier citrus district, and one of the large producers of the south.

WOMAN COULD HARDLY STAND
Because of Terrible Backache. Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Philadelphia, Pa.—"I suffered from displacement and inflammation, and had such pain in my backache so that I could hardly stand. I took six bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I can do any amount of work, sleep good, eat good, and don't have a bit of trouble. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to every suffering woman."—Mrs. HARRY FISHER, 1625 Doughton St., Nicetown, Pa.
Another Woman's Case.
Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of your Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had a displacement, bearing down, and backache, until I could hardly stand and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends."—Mrs. ABEL LAWSON, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.
Danger Signals to Women are what one physician called backache, headache, nervousness, and the blues. In many cases they are symptoms of some female derangement or an inflammatory, ulcerative condition, which may be overcome by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Thousands of American women willingly testify to its virtue.

WANTS TO ESTABLISH PLACENTIA LAUNDRY
Placentia Courier: F. Williamson of Pasadena, a relative of the Poors, has been in Placentia this week looking for a suitable site for a laundry. This is an industry Placentia is in need of and one which the chamber of commerce should get back of and encourage in every way possible. There are a number of difficulties, chiefly pertaining to disposal of waste water to be overcome, but Mr. Williamson believes this problem can be solved.

THEATER BUILDING IRON CONTRACT LET
Huntington Beach News: Hahn and Onson, the well known tinner of this city, were the successful bidders for the iron work on the new Preess Theater building. Bids were considered from Los Angeles and Long Beach firms and the local men were the winners.
The contract also includes the awning, which will be 6 by 24 feet, and composed of ornamental iron and glass, being the first one of the kind ever erected in this city.

FRUIT COMPANY ADDS TO PACKING PLANT
Placentia Courier: The Randolph Fruit Company has built on a show room 30x50 to the east end of the packing house and will also add a porch 8x140 feet on the north side for the receiving of fruit. The building is being remodeled some and an office room built in. A half sizer has also been added to the equipment.

450 ACRES TO BEETS
Stanton Optimist: The Golder ranch is to be the scene of great activity this season. Ed Golder and his son will have charge of the crop enterprise. About 450 acres of sugar beets are to be handled. In the planting, which will be pushed as soon as the weather settles, two large engines will be used and two crews will be kept constantly busy. During the beet season this ranch is a little empire of industry and nearly six hundred men are employed.

The Golders are strongly in favor of better drainage for this section and are in sympathy with the movement for a drainage district.
There are no more loyal friends of this section and with the co-operation of all the residents on the same large basis this section would go forward by leaps and bounds.

250 ORANGE TREES
Garden Grove News: The Vogt place at Harperville is being improved to the extent of the setting out of 250 new orange trees. The stock comes from the nursery of S. H. DeWitte, who is doing the planting.

WALNUTS AND ORANGES
Garden Grove News: A considerable number of new walnut trees is going in at the Schroder place near Harperville. They came from the DeWitte nursery. A little later it is planned to put out a neat orange grove.

CELERY CROP HARVESTED
Huntington Beach News: The celery crop has been about all harvested in the Wintersburg section of the county for this season, with the exception of a few late fields, and with good weather they will be shipped within the next few weeks.

WILL OPPOSE
RAISE IN GAS
Bonds for Building Brea Road
Sold With a Premium
of $2790
FULLERTON, March 5.—There has been some talk of the Southern Counties Gas Company increasing its rate in Orange county cities. The City Trustees of Fullerton have gone on record as being opposed to any increase here. The gas company has asked the state railroad commission for a permit to raise its minimum monthly charge from fifty cents to $1.00.
The $36,000 bond issue for improving the Brea road north to the city limits has been sold to E. H. Rollins & Co., of Los Angeles at a premium of $2790. The bonds bear 6 per cent interest. Four other bids were received. A petition was filed asking the city to do the work by day labor, but as a plant cannot be leased for less than $2500 a month the work will probably be let to the lowest bidder.

CHILDREN HATE OIL
CALOMEL AND PILLS
'California Syrup of Figs' Best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels
Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dope" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.
With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.
If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.
Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—Advertisement.
